Russia Assails American Plan In Korea Issue

U. S., Soviet Discuss Views On Holy Land

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 4—(AP)—The Soviet bloc in the United Nations charged today that the United States is attempting to "pigeonhole" the issue of Korean independence, establish a "puppet" government in Korea and "whitewash" its conduct in the southern zone now occupied by United States troops.

Russia, the Soviet Ukraine, Yugoslavia, and Czechoslovakia attacked United States demands for a United Nations commission to supervise establishment of a national government. They spoke as the 57-member Political Committee of the United Nations Assembly neared a vote on conflicting United States and Russian resolutions for settlement of the Korean question.

Dulles Denies Charges

John Foster Dulles, United States delegate, replied briefly to the Soviet attacks, in which White Russia and Poland joined, to deny that the United States wanted military bases in Korea and to re-affirm the intention of the United States to withdraw from Korea at the earliest possible time.

The committee wound up its general discussion at 6:36 p. m. EST and decided to start tomorrow on the various proposals before it. The first to be considered will be the Soviet resolution demanding the withdrawal of Russian and United States troops on January 1, 1948.

On other United Nations fronts:

1. Canada urged delegates to agree on methods of making partition of Palestine—if finally approved—work. The Russian and United States delegates went into an informal huddle in the afternoon. Russia wants the Security Council—where the big powers have the veto—to supervise Palestine during the period independent Jewish and Arab states are being established. The United States wants the Assembly—where there is no veto—to have this role. The delegates said after a two-hour meeting only that they had "made certain progress."

"Little Assembly" Chart Complete

2. The Political Committee subgroup which is drawing up a chart for the year-round sitting of the Assembly completed its work. Russia and Czechoslovakia maintained their boycott of this "Little Assembly" body throughout its meetings. The subcommittee now goes back to the full group with its report. The United States accepted all revisions in its plan except a subcommittee stand for a two-thirds majority rule for admitting any item to the proposed "Little Assembly's business sheet.

The United States put before the Political Committee a revised resolution calling for withdrawal of occupation troops—Russian and United States—as early as practicable after a national government is set up and "if possible within 90 days."

Ex-Warden, Four Guards Freed In Convicts' Deaths

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Nov. 4 (AP)—A federal court jury deliberated for eight minutes today and then freed a former Georgia prison camp warden and four of his guards of charges that they killed eight negro convicts last July without cause.

Hearing of evidence in the case took six days.

State agencies, including a special committee of the Legislature, previously had exonerated the warden, H. G. Worthy, and the guards.

Today's verdict was received without demonstration from spectators who packed the small trial room in the Glynn County court house. Presiding Judge Frank M. Scarlett had warned against any outcry.

U. S. Food Supply Will Be Lower In '48 With Prices Staying High, Report Says

EXPELLED—Jack Guinn (above), Associated Press Correspondent at Budapest, Hungary, since January, 1946, was notified by the Hungarian government that he must leave the county within 24 hours or face charges of "espionage and smuggling out of criminals."

Many Nations Face Critical Shortage

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Food supplies on the American homefront will shrink even lower in 1948, the Agriculture Department predicted today as administration and congressional leaders studied the problem of helping feed Europe in the months ahead.

The department said, too, that retail food prices in this country will remain high for most of next year.

With less than two weeks to go before Congress reconvenes November 17, warnings of a critical world food shortage came from several sources.

Sir John Boyd Orr, director general of the United Nations' Food and Agriculture Organization, reported that world supplies of bread cereals are 10,000,000 tons short of the amount needed to maintain even the present meager rations in many lands.

"There is no hope that the present shortage will end with the 1948 harvest," Orr told the opening session of the World Food Council

Fierce Debate Indicated

Meanwhile, fresh indications arose that President Truman's foreign aid program may touch off fierce congressional debate when the lawmakers return to Capitol Hill to receive his recommendations for both immediate stop-gap help to tide Western Europe over this winter and long-range assistance under the Marshall plan.

Sen. White, of Maine, the Republican floor leader, told a reporter he thinks GOP members will have "quite a few ideas of their own" when it comes to writing the multi-billion-dollar check for foreign relief.

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) has already said the total "bill" for 1948 should be limited to $4,500,000,000 or $5,000,000,000, whereas government officials have estimated it will run from $6,000,000,000 to $7,000,000,000 including perhaps $3,000,000,000 in outright gifts.

Touring United States senators and representatives who have made first-hand studies of Europe's needs this past summer may have plenty to say. In Paris today, Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH), chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee which will have to pass on overseas help funds, spoke out against what he described as waste in the distribution of American financial relief supplies.

More Sugar, Butter Likely

On the United States homefront, the Agriculture Department reported that despite its prediction of scantier supplies next year, the overall supply picture will be somewhat brighter than in the war years.

The report forecast higher average prices for meat, poultry, eggs and cereal products, and said most other prices will average about the same as this year.

The department said United States consumers will have more sugar, cheese, butter, bananas and dried foods in 1948 than in 1947, but supplies of lard, sweet potatoes, meat, chicken and some canned fruits are expected to be lower.

NLRB Tosses Out Cases Of Murray And Lewis Unions

Affidavits Weren't Filed By Leaders

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—(AP)—The National Labor Relations Board today threw out three cases involving unions of John L. Lewis and Philip Murray in its first move to enforce the non-Communist oath requirement of the Taft-Hartley Act in bargaining elections.

The unions whose pending cases were dismissed were: Lewis's united Construction Workers, Murray's Steel Workers and the CIO-Furniture Workers.

Deadline for filing of the affidavits disavowing Communism by union officers—one of the prerequisites for use of the board's machinery by a union—was last Friday night. The hour passed without comliance by Lewis, Murray, or the Furniture Workers.

Murray Beat Deadline

Murray, who heads the CIO as well as the Steel Workers, beat the deadline with a legal thrust at the board, however. The Steel Workers challenged the NLRB's right to throw out any cases which had been pending before the Taft-Hartley Act became operative August 22. Counsel for Murray contested the constitutionality of the law's provision that union officers must swear they're not Communists before their unions may have access to the government agency.

Eugene Cotton, assistant counsel for the Steel Workers, told reporters that a court test certainly would follow.

In addition to the non-Communist affidavits, unions are required to submit financial and detailed organizational data to the Labor Department in order to bring cases into the NLRB or to petition for elections.

It was the latter type of case which the board dismissed today for the three unions. The Lewis union involved was the United Construction Workers headed by A. D. Lew-

COAST GUARD RECEIVES SOS FROM CANADIAN SHIP

BOSTON, Nov. 4—(AP)—Coast Guard headquarters tonight received an SOS call from the Canadian freighter SS Louisburg that one of her holds was filled with water and that her engine room was flooding slowly 1,200 miles northeast of Boston.

The Louisburg radioed she was fighting heavy seas and gale winds.

The Coast Guard said the Louisburg was in no immediate danger of sinking.

The Coast Guard said she is carrying iron ore, but could not say what her point of departure was or her destination. She is operated by the Dennison Shipping Company, Montreal.

The cutter Dexter, 50 miles from the Louisburg when she sent the distress call, was expected to reach her at 11 p. m.

RESISTS EVICTION—Resisting attempts to evict her, Mrs. Andrew McDonald, 42, mother of nine children who locked herself and two of the children in their $28-a-month Brooklyn home, peers from a basement window of the building which has been condemned as unsafe. A policeman stands guard as her husband and four of the other seven children, who have been denied admittance by the police, watch from the outside.

Special Session Of Maryland Legislature Will Open Today

Lane Will Deliver Message At 2 P. M.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 4 (AP)—The state administration faced tonight a special session of the Legislature with no outward fear its fiscal position will be changed by reported efforts toward outright repeal or major modification of the sales tax.

Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., making no comment on what attempts may or may not be made by opponents of the two per cent levy, drafted a message expected to outline what the state has done and expects to do with its money.

The message, scheduled for a joint session of House and Senate at 2 p. m. tomorrow, also will specify the reasons for offering a seven-point program, which includes the administration's own plans for tax modification.

Civic Groups Want Tax Repealed

The Maryland Economic Council, composed of civic groups in 27 communities, has said it will seek repeal of the sales tax law and, failing that, press for a referendum at the 1948 elections.

Members of the official family in the Statehouse were in accord that movements of that kind would fall far short of the three-fifths vote needed to pass "emergency legislation"—and all bills at the special session must be classed as such.

Furthermore, the powerful Rules Committees of the two houses will have much to say on what legislation is steered through.

The special session, called primarily to extend taxing powers so the City of Baltimore can balance its $82,000,000 budget, has ballooned into a meeting at which a minimum of 67 bills will be presented.

Session May End Saturday

Barring unforeseen circumstances, however, occupants of the Statehouse expected the special session to end some time Saturday.

While the House and Senate chambers were made ready for the Assembly, Gov. Lane spent the day in his office, receiving a few visitors and working on his message.

The message was expected to be brief, running around 20 or 25 minutes.

Most of the legislation to come before the special session will be

Winant's Suicide Unpremeditated, Friends Believe

"Disillusionment" Cited In Memoirs

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 4 (AP)—Old friends of John G. Winant, American diplomat who shot himself to death, considered tonight that his fatal motive may have come out of illness, overwork and "the growing disillusionment of today."

People who had been close to the 58-year-old wartime ambassador to Great Britain, agreed that " a sudden cracking" was the immediate reason for his suicide by pistol shot in his home last night.

But several of these friends looked back on their most recent memories of the statesman they called "Lincolnesque' 'in a search for what might have had a part in Winant's act.

Scene Is Recreated

The former Ambassador and three-times Governor of New Hampshire apparently knelt before a firearms cabinet in his son's bedroom, according to officials who recreated the scene from the evidence.

They said Winant must have thrown away a German Luger because he found no bullet for it and then shot himself in the right temple with a .32 calibre Belgian pistol.

He was pronounced a suicide by Medical Referee Clarence E. Butterfield.

Ill health was the reason given by Winant's secretary, J. Bernard Teulon, who said the former diplomat had a heart condition and suffered from kidney or bladder trouble.

"I know Mr. Winant has been working very hard lately on writing and business affairs and I believe that he suddenly cracked," Teulon said.

Wrote Of "Disillusionment"

Winant's hard work with business and writing was confirmed by another friend, Henry A. Laughlin, ## Mikolajczyk Will Continue Anti-Red Campaign In U. S.

Sees Big Communist Drive In East Europe

LONDON, Nov. 4—(AP)—Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, predicting an all-out Communist offensive to kill off "independent thought" in Eastern Europe, declared tonight he would not retire from political life but would "still go on fighting in all ways possible for Polish freedom and independence."

The Polish Peasant Party leader who arrived yesterday after a flight from Warsaw in fear of his life, announced he would go to the United States and there continue a battle for Poland's freedom.

Will Leave For U. S. "Soon"

Pointing to a table covered with telegrams and letters, the Polish opposition leader said many offered lecture engagements in the United States. He said he would leave for American "soon," adding that "I have some friends there, and after all I must start a new life."

In his homeland, Mikolajczyk declared, "the people are fed up" with Communist domination. He said most of the government decrees there are directed against the peasantry because "the Communists think that so long as the peasants are independent they cannot be put down."

He expressed doubt that the present Moscow-backed Warsaw regime was as pleased as it said it was to be rid of him.

"I don't think they are so happy," Mikolajczyk declared. "They would prefer to finish their education system—political leaders should be arrested, tried, confess quietly and then held up to public opinion as traitors to their country."

"Terror" Campaign Increasing

Mikolajczyk said a Communist campaign of "terror" already was increasing in Poland, and that one of the manifestations of this soon

Probe Of Hughes Plane Contracts To Reopen Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Wartime procurement officials—including President Charles E. Wilson, of General Electric — will be first witnesses at reopening of the Howard Hughes inquiry here tomorrow, Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) announced today.

Ferguson is chairman of a Senate War Investigating Subcommittee probing $40,000,000 worth of aircraft contracts held by Hughes. He said Wilson is being called because he was "vice chairman in charge of aircraft procurement" for the War Production Board.

Ferguson said he did not expect Hughes, aircraft designer and film producer, to be present tomorrow but did expect John W. Meyer, Hughes' free-spending public relations man, to be available.

Scottish Voters Hand Laborites Another Setback

Lose 74 Council Seats And Gain 12

LONDON, Wednesday, Nov. 5 (AP)—Returns from more than 90 per cent of the 196 cities and towns participating in Tuesday's Scottish municipal elections showed the Labor Party lost 74 council seats and gained only 12, the British Press Association said early today.

The incomplete returns showed Labor lost control of six of the 38 municipal councils the party held before yesterday's elections and gained control of only one new council.

The substantial labor setbacks indicated Britain's trend to the right was continuing along the lines established in last week's English and Welsh municipal voting when Winston Churchill's Conservatives made a net gain of 621 council seats and the Laborites had a net loss of 652.

The chief victory for the "Progressives," candidates supported by Scotland's Unionist Party which is the North British branch of the Conservatives, was in the industrial port of Dundee—the constituency of Laborite Food Minister John Strachey—where six Labor councilmen were defeated and control passed to the Progressives.

The new council has 18 Laborites and 18 Progressives, with the decisive vote resting with the ex officio (appointed) member, Lord Dean of Guild, who normally votes Progressive.

Labor lost control of the councils in Paisley and Fort William, while retaining control in Aberdeen. Results from eight of Aberdeen's 13 wards showed the Progressives gained one seat from Labor and Labor took a seat from the Communists.

WORLD FLIERS GREETED AT ANCHORAGE, ALASKA

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Nov. 4 (AP)—Their tiny planes bedecked with the printed flags of all the nations they have flown across, George Truman and Clifford Evans, flying around the world, landed here at 3:40 p. m. (PST) (6:40 p. m. EST) today after a 300-mile flight from Naknek, Alaska.

A newly-painted shield of the Alaska Air Command was the latest decoration. They left Naknek at noon.

Lt. Gen. Nathan F. Twining, commanding general of the Alaskan armed forces, was at Elmendorf Field to greet them. They were accompanied by a B-17 of the Far Eastern Air Forces, which has flown with them from Japan, and a Navy PBY.

Civic leaders planned a reception tonight. The two said they would telephone their wives at Washington, D. C., tomorrow. They left Teterboro, N. J., in their 100-horsepower planes August 10.

Stennis Ahead In U. S. Senate Race In Miss.

New York Approves Bonus For Veterans

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 5—(Wednesday)—(AP)—A rising tide of votes late last night showed the Democrats sweeping back into control of Kentucky's state government after a wartime reversal.

Unofficial tabulations from 1,763 of the state's 4,056 precincts gave Democratic Rep. Earle C. Clements, husky 50-year-old West Kentuckian, a total of 203,521 votes to 146,432 for his Republican opponent, State Atty. Gen. Eldon S. Dummit, Lexington, in their race for Governor. W. A. Sandefur, Robards, Socialist candidate, trailed far behind.

Republicans in Louisville conceded the Democrats had won control of the city's Board of Aldermen with a ticket supported strongly by Democratic Mayor E. Leland Taylor.

Jouett Ross Todd, Louisville, Republican National Committeeman from Kentucky, predicted last night that the Democrats would carry the state by 40,000 votes. He said he based his forecast on incomplete unofficial reports. Todd previously predicted a GOP victory in the state by 30,000 to 50,000 votes.

STENNIS LEADS IN MISS

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 4 (AP) — tall, grey-haired John Cornelius Stennis, 46-year-old circuit judge, clung to a small but continuing lead in a tight, three-man race for the unexpired United States Senate term of the late Theodore Bilbo.

With 995 of Mississippi's 1,716 voting precincts reporting—more than one-half the state—Stennis had 33,635 votes. Waging a ding-dong battle just behind were Rep. William Colmer (D-Miss), Pascagoula, with 31,915 and Bilbo's one-time personal attorney, Forrest B. Jackson, with 28,530. Jackson, who campaigned all-out for "white supremacy," claimed to be Bilbo's political heir.

Paul B. Johnson, Jr., 31-year-old Marine Corps veteran and son of the late Governor of Mississippi, had 16,370 while Rep. John E. Rankin (D-Miss) had 15,333.

Rankin, who had shrilled his opposition to European aid, and shouted defiance to "negro Communists" and "Yankee meddlers," appeared to be suffering a substantial defeat.

Democratic Gov. Fielding Wright was piling up an overwhelming lead over his independent Republican opponent, George L. Sheldon, one-time Governor of Nebraska.

N. Y. OKs VETS' BONUS

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(AP)—New York State voters today gave smashing approval to a $400,000,000 bonus for World War II veterans and New York City residents decisively ended the 11-year tenure of proportional representation for election of its councilmen.

The bonus agreement, which carries the largest sum ever voted by a state to honor its servicemen, won a sweeping victory of nearly three to one on the basis of returns at midnight.

B-29, Engine Aflame, Lands Safely After Five Crew Members Bail Out

WILBUR, Wash., Nov. 4 (AP) — Five crew members bailed out of their burning B-29 bomber late today but the pilot and co-pilot remained aboard and brought the big ship down safely with a forced landing in a wheat field two miles south of here.

The pilot and co-pilot who landed the crippled ship were uninjured, but some of the other five crew members were hurt in parachuting from the plane, Sheriff Frank C. Rambo said.

Four of the parachutists were located in one area by searchers combing the rough cattle grazing country.

They were en route to Wilbur, Rambo said. One of them reportedly suffered a broken arm in his parachute jump, and others had minor injuries, the sheriff said.

The Spokane Army Air Field identified the pilot as Maj. D. H. Keller and the co-pilot as E. F. Arnold, both of Spokane.

Mrs. Pauline Riley, Wilbur, said the plane flew low over the town and landed wheels up on a rolling wheat field two miles to the south.

Jacob Walters, owner of the farm where the ship landed, said one motor was blazing when the craft came to a stop. Propellors were bent and the fuselage damaged, he said, but the pilot and co-pilot "were not even shaken up."

The first parachutist located after the landing was Capt. William Moore, Chester, S. C., Sheriff Rambo said. He was reported in good condition at Davenport where he was treated for his head and hand injuries.

Moore walked to a ranch 20 miles from the wheat field where the plane landed, Rambo said.

Federal Tax Cuts For All Proposed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Sweeping revisions of the nation's tax structure, with cuts for all the 48,500,000 individual taxpayers and for corporations as well, were proposed today to the House Ways and Means Committee.

The recommendations came from a citizens' study group and exploded immediately into controversy with Rep. Dingell (D-Mich) crediting the report to the "Wall Street boys."

Labor's member of the 10-man study group, AFL Vice President Matthew Woll, dissented bitterly, declaring the proposals by his nine colleagues would:

1. Drastically reduce federal revenues; 2. ignore revenue needs for European aid, and 3. shift the tax load from those best able to those least able to pay.

On the other hand, Ways and Means Chairman Knutson (R-Minn) praised the report as an "out-standing contribution" to the task of tax revision.

The citizens group was set up by the Ways and Means Committee, which is the main tax law-writing body in Congress.

The report, calling for a general overhauling of the tax structures, is separate from plans of Knutson to press for "quickie" enactment of a $4,000,000,000 tax slash for individuals in the special session of Congress opening November 17.

Roswell Magill, chairman of the study group, presented the report. Now a New York lawyer, he is a former Undersecretary of the Treasury in the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt. He has supported Knutson's two previous $4,000,000,000 tax cut bills—both killed this year by presidential vetoes.

While the citizens' group made few suggestions for detailed revisions of tax laws, it proposed:

Individuals—A "reduction in individual income tax rates for all, with due regard for the cost of living of those in the lower income groups, and for the needs of the balance of the economy."

Rates—It made no specific proposal. It said that if the individual surtax rates were revised so that the low rate was 15 per cent instead of 19 per cent and the high rate 50 per cent, in lieu of the present 86.4 per cent ceiling, the loss of revenue would be about $4,200,000,000.

Community Property—That husbands and wives be allowed to divide the family income equally for tax reporting purposes. By thus putting the income into lower brackets it would reduce the tax for middle income families. The system already applies by local law in 13 states.

Corporations—Tax reductions all along the line, but especially in a way to foster and promote small business enterprises.

Dividends—To cut down double taxation of dividends by allowing "the individual an appropriate credit or offset against his own tax, for the tax paid by the corporation with respect to his dividends."

Excises—That these levies should continue to form an important part of the federal revenue system. Present "inequities" should be erased.

President Truman Has Come Quite A Way; He's Hep To Heraldry Now

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP) — Yes, sir, Harry Truman has come quite a way since he was known as the lad who could plow one of the straightest furrows in Jackson County, Mo.

For instance, he's now hep to heraldry. And that takes considerable hepping.

AIR FORCE SEAL . . . Receives President Truman's approval.

An executive order, setting up a seal for the Department of the Air Force, just flew in. It says, among other things:

"Shield: Per fess nebuly abased azure and argent, in chief a thunderbolt or inflamed proper.

"Crest: On a wreath argent and azure an American bald eagle, wings displayed and partially elevated proper in front of a cloud argent."

This was signed, "Harry S. Truman."

Well, it turns out this isn't really doubletalk at all. People interested in heraldry talk like that.

Which is reason enough for peering into the history of our crests and seals, and finding out how they got that way.

Defendants Deny Former Hospital Inmate's Charge

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4. (AP)—Five of seven defendants took the stand today to deny that gray-haired Mrs. Melissa Rowe, 56, had been "railroaded" to Spring Grove State Hospital for 26 days in 1943.

Mrs. Rowe has filed a $250,000 damage suit in United States District Court here, claiming she was "deprived of her civil rights" when "held virtually incommunicado" at the hospital from March 8, 1943, to April 3, 1943.

She said she was committed as a result of a "conspiracy" and was released only "as a result of her strong protestations."

The validity of a commitment order sending her to the institution at Catonsville, Md., "for mental disorders" was questioned by defense counsel today.

Mrs. Rowe said the order was signed by former Trial Magistrate Walter L. Green, now an attorney at Hyattsville, Md. Green was justice of the peace at Laurel and designated trial magistrate for Prince George's County from June, 1939 to May, 1945.

Judge Green "had a deep personal interest in the unlawful commitment," Mrs. Rowe charged in her complaint, because "Green became infatuated with the daughter of the plaintiff," knew Mrs. Rowe objected to his seeing her and "used his official powers" to "get her out of the way."

Green denied this charge on the stand today before Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut. He and other defendants also denied they had "conspired" to commit Mrs. Rowe.

The church, he said, has been receiving more support than ever from the Polish people as "the only place left where they can express and manifest their feelings."

Plane Plunges Into Sea; Coed And Pilot Killed

REDONDO BEACH, Calif., Nov. 4 (AP) — An 18-year-old coed and her pilot in a light airplane plunged to their deaths in the sea today while her brother watched helplessly from another plane.

The victims, presumably drowned when the plane sank quickly, were identified as Miss Natalie Stiegel, student at the University of California at Los Angeles, and Pilot Hugo J. Poppe, Los Angeles.

The brother, Roy Stiegel, 21, was a passenger in a similar plane. He and his sister had rented the planes and were flying over the ocean while they photographed each other.

Garbage Piles Up

PARIS, Nov. 4 (AP) — Cans piled high with refuse lined the curbs of Paris streets tonight as 4,500 street cleaners who struck this morning for salary increases of up to 20 per cent refused to go back to work. The Ministry of Social Affairs asked the union's leaders to call off the strike on behalf of Paris' health.

McKellar's Aid Views

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 4. (AP)—Sen. K. D. McKellar (D-Tenn) said today he is not in favor of a four-year contract to aid Europe and he thinks relief should be administered by an American commission instead of by the governments helped.

Secret Files On KKK, Columbians Stolen From Ga. Law Dept. Offices

ATLANTA, Oct. 4 (AP)—Voluminous secret files on the Ku Klux Klan and the Columbians, containing names of "many prominent persons" involved in the race-baiting orders, have been stolen from offices of the Law Department, Attorney General Eugene Cook said today.

Cook said the secret data was removed from a locked cabinet during a series of raids on his offices within the past few months. Other highly important and confidential papers were either taken or examined, he said, and desks were ransacked.

As Attorney General, Cook led a successful court effort last year to revoke the national charter of the Klan and the state charter of the brown-shirted, anti-negro, anti-Jewish Columbians.

He said he kept "top secret" data compiled in state investigations of the organizations in separate files which were never removed from the office. Information in this "top secret" file involved personalities and was not germane to the state's civil case against the hate orders, he said.

Tait Assails Lane

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4 (AP)—Chairman Galen L. Tait, of the Republican State Central Committee, said tonight that the acts of the Democratic administration headed by Gov. Lane are "well calculated to assure the voting public he will serve but a single term."

Tait, just returned from a three months' vacation in Puerto Rico, issued a statement on the eve of the convening of the General Assembly in special session, declaring:

"Poor Puerto Rico rides along without a sales tax, but richer Maryland has one politely imposed by gubernatorial decree, although the state now is promised relief from swollen dollar taxes on a penny basis."

The administration is sponsoring a bill to be introduced at the special session to raise the present nine cent exemption level to 14 cents.

The publisher termed Winant's act "without premeditation" and said it was his belief that "something snapped."

But Laughlin also called attention to this which Winant wrote in the introduction to his memoirs:

"One of the deeper reasons for wanting to write x x x is the growing disillusionment of today; which not only dims and obscures the present but is trying to cloud the past. It has seemed to me that many people do not understand the urgency of these days."

Cotton Textile Workers Win Nine Per Cent Hike

DANVILLE, Va., Nov. 4 (AP)—The Textile Workers Union of America and officials of the Dan River Cotton Mills tonight reached an agreement on demands which may set a new wage pattern for the textile industry throughout the South.

A boost of nine per cent for the more than 11,000 Dan River employes, effective November 11, was reached, representing an increase of two and a quarter million dollars in the annual payroll of the big textile mill.

State Prepares To Try Youth, 12, For Murder

CHICAGO, Nov. 4—(AP)—Howard Lang, slightly-built, 12-year-old schoolboy who confessed to the brutal slaying of a young playmate, worked a cross-word puzzle and appeared in good spirits today as the state went ahead with plans to try him for murder.

State's Attorney William J. Tuohy said he would begin presenting evidence to the grand jury Thursday, after an inquest is held tomorrow into the death of seven-year-old Lonnie Fellick.

Lang signed a statement yesterday that he killed the Fellick boy with a knife and a heavy chunk of concrete, in the presence of a nine-year-old playmate on October 18. Later Lang reconstructed the killing for police officers who took him and his playmate, Gerald Michalek, to the forest preserve where Lonnie's body was found last Wednesday.

OHIO APPROVES BONUS

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4—(AP)—Ohio's plan to pay $300,000,000 in bonuses to World War II veterans gained better than 3-to-1 support on the basis of partial returns from today's elections.

Joseph B. Quatman, Lima Democrat, conceded defeat in the special election contest for Ohio's Fourth Congressional District and wired Republican William M. McCulloch, Piqua Republican, his congratulations. Unofficial returns from 367 of 412 precincts gave McCulloch 37,825 votes and Quatman 30,470.

HARVEY INDIANA WINNER

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 4 — (AP) — Ralph Harvey, Republican farmer, was elected to Congress from the 10th Indiana District tonight on the basis of unofficial, incomplete returns. Harvey held such a wide lead over his Democratic opponent, Frank A. Hanley, Muncie automobile dealer, that it could not be overcome.

Resignation Looms

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 4 (AP) — Premier Knud Kristensen will call on King Frederik IX tomorrow and ask permission to resign, it was reported reliably tonight.

Lovett, European Leaders Confer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP) — Undersecretary of State Lovett was understood tonight to have urged European leaders to get their own recovery program going as soon as possible under the Marshall plan for European recovery.

Levett, Secretary of Commerce Harriman and other American officials met with Sir Oliver Franks, of Britain, and his committee representing the 16 European nations who hope to obtain American aid for a four-year program.

Lovett and Harriman were reported later to have reviewed the plans of government officials here for European aid recommendations to be laid before congressional committees November 10.

The Europeans reportedly were urged by Lovett to take vigorous action toward carrying out their own plans for boosting production, building up their exports and improving their financial conditions.

The European committee headed by Franks is supposed to complete its work by this weekend and its members probably will leave Washington immediately thereafter. The committee's task here has been to review and explain to American officials the detailed recovery program worked out by the 16 nations in their conference at Paris last summer.

President Truman

But, first, a brief explanation. In that order of Mr. Truman's, "azure" means blue, "argent" means silver, "per fess" means divided by a horizontal bar, and "nebuly" means cloudlike.

The language dates all the way back to when knighthood was in flower.

Arthur Dubois, of the Army heraldic section, told a reporter that heraldry has its practical side, too.

"It's the way we make documents authentic," he said. "That's why we adopted the Great Seal on June 20, 1782."

Redcaps Fight Fee Boost

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP) — The Redcaps Union today gave notice it will fight a prospective five-cent-per-bag increase in the fee paid by travelers for the handling of their luggage at railroad stations.

The fee is now 10 cents per bag. But it will go up to 15 cents December 1 at many eastern terminals unless the Interstate Commerce Commission acts in the meantime.

"Red Dean of Canterbury" Coming Over To Spread Views

The Most Rev. Dr. Geoffrey T. Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury, recently dealt a stinging public rebuke to the Right Rev. Dr. Ernest W. Barnes, Bishop of Birmingham, for having written a book challenging the authenticity of miracles.

Whether or not he believes in miracles, a member of the Church of England cannot question the right of the Primate of England to pronounce upon any opinion concerning the faith. Some observers may wonder, however, that Dr. Fisher has not commented on another type of miracle—the extraordinary political views of his immediate inferior, Dr. Hewlett Johnson, Dean of Canterbury.

For many years Dr. Johnson has been called the "Red Dean of Canterbury" because of his outspoken sympathy for Soviet Russia. He has just returned from a two-month tour of eastern Europe, embracing Russia and the Soviet satellites, during which he was feted by several Communist governments. This is not surprising, since the Dean's views about Russia and Communism could be endorsed by any Pravda editor. Dr. Johnson thinks Soviet Russia is just wonderful. He praises Stalin for having restored religious freedom in Russia. (Apparently, he is thinking of the Russian Orthodox Church, which has recently been made a valuable part of the Soviet propaganda machine in the Slavic countries of Europe. He can hardly be thinking of the persecuted Roman Catholic clergy of Russia and now of Poland).

Ignoring the new Comintern and the speeches of Vishinsky, the "Red Dean" thinks all countries behind the Iron Curtain are eager "to make friends with the West." The United States, he says, can win over Yugoslavia's Tito "with 2,000 trucks." To spread this novel message, the Dean of Canterbury is coming to the United States for a coast-to-coast speaking tour.

Most Americans who hear these speeches or read about them will assume that they voice the attitude of the Church of England. This is natural, since the Archbishop of Canterbury has not repudiated his Dean. It may be argued, of course, that no theological issue is involved here, only political opinions. Yet it must strike American Christians as curious that a high church dignitary defends and even promotes a system of government which ruthlessly suppresses all individual human rights—including the religious freedom of many people not of his own faith.

It seems to be the contention of some Hollywoodians that the people and the Congress they elect should not object to having Communist propaganda dished out to them in movie films, probably on the theory that they are too dumb to understand, anyway.

Belatedly The Festival Of Falling Leaves Takes Stage

The wonted pageantry of October has been shifted into November by an interval of equable warmth which in popular parlance has been called Indian Summer. Of course, it is not. To recognize its mixed quality, let us call it Creole Summer. This would be taking no more liberties than are taken with the true Indian Summer, which begins with Martinmas, November 11, and which is known abroad as "St. Martin's Summer," "Old Woman's Summer," "St. Luke's Summer," "All Hallow Summer."

Belatedly the Festival of Falling Leaves take the stage. We leave the poignant parable of their descent to the moralist. Its pathos a poet has recorded for all time in "The Last Rose of Summer." Through the generations, multitudes must have wept when the right voice sang those words, "Since the lovely are sleeping, Go sleep thou with them." We turn to the blazonry of The Moment Before, when the forests take their curtain call. The black gum, sourwood, red maple, flowering dogwood, sassafras and sumac wear a scarlet garment. Yellow and gold apparel the hickory, birch, tulip-tree, pawpaw, witch hazel and magnolia. There is royal purple on the ash, sweet gum and persimmon. As the spectacle passes, the white-limbed sycamores, stripped of their foliage, stand out in the desolate woods, and they might be marble statues of the classic time.

Comes, then, the smoky haze of Indian Summer (Martinmas) and afterward all the negations of November.

Airplanes of the future are to be patterned after the house fly. Which doesn't mean, however, they'll be able to land on as small a space as the end of your nose when you're trying to sleep.

$5 Wheat For Europe

Argentina is ready to help feed a hungry world which gives little indication that it intends to help itself if that involves returning to work—at a price. With wheat $3 a bushel on American markets, she will sell her wheat for $5 a bushel—spot cash—the cash, presumably to be supplied by the United States.

Thus Argentina proposes to make good on President Peron's speech of last July. At that time, with one of those perennial Pan American conferences coming up and Argentina in bad repute because that nation retained its neutrality during the war, the head of the South American country's government emitted the sort of words the conference leaders wanted to hear. He said his country would give all the economic aid it could to war-ravaged countries.

Now Argentina has wheat to export to those war-ravaged countries. At $5 a bushel.

Times have certainly changed since 1932, when wheat went as low as 44½ cents on the Chicago market. With near-starvation conditions in Europe, wheat is in great demand because grains require far less shipping space for a given number of calories than most other foods, contain a high proportion of essential nutrients for subsistence feeding, and therefore meet the need at relatively low cost.

Europe, the Department of Agriculture has estimated, will need to import 570,000,000 bushels of grain this year, most of it wheat. The boys in Washington have estimated that the United States—if Congress appropriates the money—can supply 400,000,000 bushels of wheat and 70,000,000 bushels of other grains toward this total.

Unless Washington, in its enthusiasm, provides still more, 100,000,000 bushels—if Europe actually needs 570,000,000 bushels—must come from Argentina. And Argentina has no desire to play Santa Claus.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

PEPTIC ULCER PROBLEMS

VICTIMS of peptic ulcer should know as much as possible about the ailment as it presents many difficult problems. In the majority, the lesions tend to recur and now and then serious complications arise. For this reason, every one so afflicted must make a reasonable effort at all times to eat properly and observe the rules of good physical and mental health.

Careful studies have demonstrated that there may be no relationship between the individual symptoms and whether the ulcer is open or healed. Pain or indigestion may exist only when the gastric acidity reaches a certain level.

Let us suppose that the diagnosis has just been made in George and treatment with diet and one of the antacid preparations is started. Within a day or two, he feels comfortable. But this does not mean that the ulcer has gone and studies have shown that a year or more may be required before it finally closes. Meanwhile, he has no difficulties and, believing that repair has taken place, reverts to his old eating and working habits.

In some instances, the ulcer may never heal. This situation is not taken seriously if the periods of distress are few and far between. Sieges of indigestion often arise after a particularly hard day at the office or subsequent to a party at which there was too much to eat and drink. But the interval of grace may not last long for ultimately pain becomes more frequent and disabling enough to warrant medical care. X-rays will show that the crater is still present; if films had been made one or two months earlier, it probably would have shown up at that time also. But to George, this is a recurrence.

This sequence is not to be expected always because in many, healing ensues. Some are never bothered thereafter; others may go for 20 years before a return engagement is encountered. But such a history is unusual. In one series of 216 patients who were followed for 10 years, only 38 per cent escaped a second attack. In another, 27 per cent were cured after four years. With still another group of 278, the results were satisfactory in only 28.5 per cent after two to 12 years.

In a recent survey by Miller on 923 patients who were watched for one to 10 years, 31.5 per cent had to be operated upon due to complications or because of inadequate diet or failure of medication to relieve symptoms. An additional 14 per cent were encountering irregular bouts of discomfort, and the remainder were free entirely.

Physicians understand fairly well the cause of peptic ulcer and how it should be treated. But to do the job right, considerable effort on the part of the victim is essential. He must adhere to the diet and eat smaller but more frequent meals. The majority are high strung and ambitious; many work under tension and have little time for relaxation. Consequently the curative program is not easy unless they readjust their lives.

INSIDE AND OUT

C. writes: What is the difference, if any, between a fallen stomach and a pot belly?

REPLY

A pot belly, or bay window, arises when the abdominal muscles become weakened or there is an excess of blubber in this region. It has nothing to do with a fallen stomach, which is internal and not external and usually occurs in thin persons.

HERNIA

T. C. Writes: Is a rupture dangerous?

REPLY

Not necessarily, altho there is always the possibility of strangulation—that is, the cutting off of the blood supply of a piece of the bowel. Send a stamped, self-addresed envelope for leaflet on hernia.

LUCKY STIFF

C. C. M. writes: I am 68 years old and have never had a headache in my life. Can you tell me why?

REPLY

No, except that you are fortunate. But knock on wood, for you still have years ahead of you, and this sick old world is full of headaches.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

I see where a national association of men's clothing manufacturers has just picked President Truman as one of the world's ten best dressed statesmen . . . which is only logical . . . after all . . . look at all those years he spent in that haberdashery.

Anyway, the President couldn't possibly miss being picked as Washington's man of distinction . . . He's always wearing full dress . . . because he never knows when he'll be called upon to play the piano.

Now, probably, the Democrats will change their party symbol from a donkey to clothes-horse.

And I guess it won't be long before they'll create a new cabinet position for Adrian . . . he'll be the secretary of the exterior.

The style influence will be very noticeable among the Democrats in 1948 . . . instead of campaign buttons, they're gonna hand out zippers.

I wouldn't say President Truman's sure of re-election next year but he just ordered a dozen new suits.

Of course, you know why he ordered the special session of Congress next month . . . he wants them to approve the fit.

The President really has some definite style ideas, though.

He won't wear anything with a belt in the back . . . he's been getting enough of those from the Republicans.

Of course, as a tax payer my clothing problems are a lot simpler . . . at the end of the year I always end up wearing a barrel.

Library Of Congress Feuds With Army Brass Over Releasing Secret War Records; Bloom Sends Back Bread; Experts Iron Out Marshall Plan

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Army brass hats are engaged in a little-known, vitally important argument with the Library of Congress over their long practice of hushing up all documents—including records of military blunders.

Most people don't know it but even the blunders of the Civil War are still classified in Army files as "secret." And when it comes to the errors of World War I and II, Army brass won't even discuss publication of Army blunders.

Senator Kilgore of West Virginia, for instance, has tried to get the Army to let him see its reports on the Battle of the Bulge, most tragic error of the last war which cost 60,000 American casualties. However, the Army says no. Simultaneously, some of the top brass responsible for this error remain in places of responsibility. Simultaneously also, the Army is putting across a campaign for military conscription under these same officers.

To break this information strangle hold, the nation's leading libraries have banded together with the Library of Congress and hired a full-time attorney, Walter Greenwood, to work with government agencies. So far, however, he has failed to jar loose a single document from the State Department, has managed to get only a few token pieces from the Army. Among other things, he wants the government to throw open any military handbooks or captured enemy documents that might cast light on recent history.

This is also the driving aim of the American Political Science Association, a professional society of history teachers. In desperation, they appealed to the Senate's leading scholar, Elbert Thomas of Utah, who sent a sharp note to the Army.

"We understand that the principal obstacle is the assumed necessity of clearance with the British," wrote the Mormon Senator, referring to the Army's stock excuse. "We seriously raise the question as to whether the enlightenment these documents will make possible should wait too long for clearance. Perhaps someone with the necessary disciplined imagination might go over them and request permission from the British to clear specific items or classes of material."

For an answer, Thomas got back empty promises and equivocal excuses.

Meanwhile even the most trivial information is still zealously classified, such as the handbook: "Legal and administrative aspects of the protection of monuments in Germany and Austria." In most cases, the government has refused to take action. But some material has been examined and the secret classification formally upheld. For instance, a report on "agricultural holdings and laws of hereditary estates in Germany" still is considered secret information, even though German laws are all pretty well published in Germany.

Note—Secretary of the Army Kenneth Royall has urged the State Department to make public certain German documents but hasn't had much luck with his own brass hats, supposed to be under his control.

Sol Bloom's Bread

New York's Sol Bloom, grizzled veteran of a quarter century in Congress, believes in practicing what he preaches.

The other day a basket of bread was placed before him in a New York restaurant.

"Who is this for?" he exploded.

Then Sol launched into an impromptu harangue on the food crisis while scurrying waiters moved the offending bread from his sight.

Merry-Go-Round

The British embassy is the only one in Washington with a direct telephone line to the State Department. . . . Left-wingers are pressuring Henry Wallace to endorse officially a third party now. Wallace has told intimates he'll probably support Eisenhower in '48. . . . The old State Department building near the White House is enjoying a moral rejuvenation these days. Six months ago the State Department abandoned the gloomy old structure, whose corridors resounded through the years to the tramp of history. Instead of quick-moving diplomats and nervous newsmen, the building only heard the patter of quiet bureaucratic feet. Now, the building is alive with the President's food committee plus the Council of Economic Advisers. . . . Col. Sherwood Eddy, one of Secretary Marshall's top intelligent advisers, resigned from the State Department in protest against the administration's stand on the Palestine issue. Eddy, who guided preinvasion intelligence operations in North Africa, was too pro-Arab to support partition of the Holy Land. . . . Joe Panuch, ex-aide to Jimmy Byrnes, is taking a big load off General Clay's back in Germany. He guided congressmen on their tours of Germany, keeping them out of Clay's hair.

Unravelling Marshall Plan

The administration's struggle to clear the snags out of the Marshall Plan in time to meet its own November 17 deadline is not making too much progress. That was the real reason why Acting Secretary of State Robert Lovett emerged from behind locked doors last week to tell newsmen that it was "hell week" inside.

Lovett would not reveal what problems are clogging the wheels since all information regarding the Marshall Plan is classified "top secret." However, this column has obtained the following agenda of the knotty questions that are slowing up work on the Marshall Plan:

1. What loans or guarantees should be granted to American business enterprise?
2. What commitments should be demanded of recipient countries regarding their internal financial policies?
3. Should farm aid be given in grants or loans?
4. What arrangements are necessary for multilateral currency clearing?
5. What about the liquidation of gold and dollar reserves?
6. Can reciprocal agreements be worked out for acquiring strategic materials?

Experts are continuing to thrash these out and hope to get at least some of them settled before Congress opens. However, they have only 13 days to go.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Four-Letter Words

GEORGE Bernard Shaw, whose "Man and Superman," after 44 years, is still the best play on Broadway, achieves what the modern playwrights call realism without once using one of those nasty, little four-lettered words that boys used to write on the fence. Ibsen managed to write realistically, even about venereal disease, without crossing over from good taste to bad. Tolstoy, who drained the dregs of the barrel of life, could stir not only emotions but thought without calling a woman a female dog on the stage. It is all a matter of taste.

It would seem that so many modern playwrights are so lacking in both imagination and language that for power and strength of expression they have nothing to offer but the spectacle of a young and beautiful woman befouling her mouth with the idiom of the barroom.

They call that realism. They call that modern. If that is what modernism and realism means, it ought to have its mouth washed out with yellow soap.

The genius of Shaw undoubtedly was (in 1903, mind you) that he was able to say the most conventional things in the most conventional manner and by sheer strength of ideas and the use of competent English make it sound sufficiently shocking to be attractive. For in "Man and Superman" he reiterates what the human race has always known, namely, that if a girl has set her cap to get a man, she will succeed. He calls it "The Life Force." In a word, he has to find a fierce biological reason—as Marxians always do—for what is simple human nature. To bolster his argument, he refers to the Bees, when he might better have referred us to every Tom and Jane that ever lived. The bees, of course, do it by regimentation, whereas the Toms and Janes use all the wiles of will and choice. But it comes out that every woman gets her man if she wants him sufficiently to make the effort.

None of which detracts from an extraordinarily good performance of Shaw's masterpiece, somewhat cut, which is always unnecessary, but nevertheless better than anything I had seen by a living author for many years. And he manages to get by without referring at any time to illegitimacy in the language of the Bowery. In fact during what in the movies is called a sequence, the subject of unwedded motherhood is thrashed out without a vulgarity.

Thinking it over, I believe I have listened to the entire gamut of preadolescent lingo on the stage, except for one word which apparently the modernists have not yet plucked up sufficient courage to use. That, I am sure, will come in due course as a final example of liberalism, realism and modernity.

I recently saw a vaudevillian leave the stage mumbling to himself while the audience roared with laughter. No one could hear what he said but they could see him spell out a line of linguistic filth and they thought it very funny. What was funny about it, I shall have to discover because that is what little bad boys have been doing since Caesar was a pup. Or maybe they laughed because it would have been impolite not to laugh at a professional funny man.

Good taste is something to fight to preserve, for without it liberty becomes license and art turns into vulgarity. Shaw, in spite of his broad ideas and his propaganda for a slow Marxism, which he calls Fabianism, adheres rigidly to good taste. In no play does he become vulgar to achieve emphasis. In no play does he employ indecencies to advertise realism. He keeps the bathroom in its place and the garbage can under the sink. He risks daringly to shock by hurtling controversies, pro and con, at his audience, without opening the drains.

Wage And Hour Act Tends To Restrain Greater Production

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Throughout the world there is a frequent use of the term "dollar shortage." This, in turn, has often been described as really a "goods shortage." More and more evidence is piling up that what the world really is suffering from is a "work shortage."

"The "work shortage" in America is due to several factors—labor-management disturbances in past months, inability to produce civilian goods in wartime, and penalties being placed on overtime by laws that require extra payments if production is increased.

Thus, in one all-important commodity — steel — work stoppages have cost the loss of a tremendous amount of production. Admiral Ben Moreell, retired, formerly head of the "Seabees" and now president of Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, in a recent address, enumerated several causes for the steel shortage and blamed the strikes in the coal and steel industries since the end of the war.

"This factor alone," he said, "caused the loss of 18,000,000 ingot tons of steel production. This would supply the automobile industry for about 18 months at the rate at which it used steel during the first half of this year. It is safe to say that if we had produced the 18,000,000 tons there would be few complaints today about a shortage of steel."

That's a real "work shortage." The radicals in Congress keep talking about the need for increasing steel capacity by 10,000,000 tons a year and yet not a word of criticism has come from any of them that big unionism was able to deprive the post-war world of 18,000,000 tons of needed steel.

Ways To Boost Output Needed

What is vital, however, is that interest be focused on ways and means of increasing production. Attention was directed in these dispatches recently to a plan whereby workers would get a tax exemption for all hours worked at "straight time" instead of "time and a half" over and above any existing schedule of working hours even though these already included some "time and a half" payments. Comment on the plan is coming in from various parts of the country. George A. Sloan, formerly president of the Cotton Textile Institute, writes:

"Your proposed amendment to the wage and hour act strikes me as being very timely. In any event it is thought-provoking and I hope the matter will be pursued.

"As chairman of the cotton textile industry committee which submitted the first code under the NRA which included the forty-hour-work-week proposal later followed in all other codes, may I remind you that this was an emergency plan to spread the work in the face of depressed demand, bankruptcy prices and waste of working capital resulting from the necessity of funding purchases for a volume of production beyond the capacity of the market to absorb. Subsequently that emergency action was made the law of the land.

Basic Industries Lack Supply

"Today in many basic industries we have inadequate supply to meet demand, soaring costs of production with resultant inflationary prices and a crying need at home and abroad for more and more American production. Having visited several European countries during the past summer when I went over as one of the American delegates to the International Chamber of Commerce meeting in Montreux, I should say that the greatest present need of England, France and Germany and, indeed, most of the European countries, is production and still more production of the necessities of life—both American production and their own.

"In the face of all of this, the wage and hour act, enacted when conditions in the United States were the extreme opposite of what they are today, tends to restrain and, in some cases, even prohibit any increase in production.

"Unless I am badly mistaken the working men and women are just as fed up with the present high cost of living and all of the ineffective dipsy-doodle plans to correct it as any other group of people in our country. The intelligent worker has long since learned—or should have—that the spiralling of wages without increased production gets him nowhere and gets him there fast."

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

The Undiscovered

No matter how many times I may have read a book, or read in it at odd moments, there seems to be always something else there yet to be discovered. It's like looking upon some favorite scene under a different lighting, or at a different season, when the mood has changed or mellowed.

There are those of our friends whom we may have known for years—yet with most of their area of mind and heart still undiscovered. It is this undiscovered in people, who are most worth while to us, that gives us such a joy of satisfaction when first encountered. Journeying into the realm of another mind may have far greater profit for any one of us than to take an extended journey into a foreign land, returning not having learned its significance.

The human being is a curious animal. From earliest childhood to the very end is this true. We want to learn. We want to know. And we want to know why. I like the words over the grave of Green, the English historian. It said: "He died learning."

Had it not been for the curiosity of those who were the early discoverers of this Western World, never would this great continent be what it is today. They were intrepid men, full of dreams and courage. What a thrill it must have been when the first white man looked upon the Pacific Ocean, from what is now known as the "Golden Gate"!

Nothing is so interesting and significant as the unfolding of a personality. Discovering latent and undiscovered talents. How many there are who boast of the fact that they "discovered" this person or that one. A worthy boast, at that, if the discovery later results in that person also discovering himself.

We live in an age of discoveries, but we have yet to find a permanent method by which we can happily live at peace around the world. For example, just suppose a certain few of the representatives of nations in the United Nations organization should suddenly become aware of the existence of the "Golden Rule" as a practical proposition—wouldn't that be a wonderful discovery, especially if put to use?

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Congress meets this month and has more problems than a twenty-mule driver with a short whip.

This will not be a special session according to the House Emily House on "House Who."

It's just the July one carried over, says Mr. Deschler, the House parliamentarian and arbiter of cloakroom precedence. The President is calling them thirty days early to get used to them.

There will be nothing new in legislative action or filibustering tactics. It's just like a wrestling match that gets tangled in the ropes.

The referee puts them back in the center of the ring and they take the same grip they had before.

The association also passed upon a recommendation to renew the Community Chest donation; and discussed and decided to follow the suggestion of the General Assembly to close the fiscal year December 31, 1947 instead of March, 1948. Circles will continue as they stand until December 1948.

Announcement was made of the World Community day at St. Luke's Church, Friday; and that all bundles and kits for the New Windsor project, should be sent in as soon as possible. The Young Womans Group and the Cramer-Potter Circle will hold a rummage sale, jointly, November 14, in the lecture hall, from 7 until 9 o'clock. Any article for sale will be gladly accepted.

The program was presented by the Westminster Fellowship and consisted of the call to worship by Constance Cook, group singing of "Jesus Calls O'er the Turmult;" Scripture by Pauline Likens; a litany by Alpha Phares and Ann Reynolds; and a quartet composed of Maxine Conrad, Alan Macy, Thomas Hutcheson and Joan Connelly.

Winfield Adams, youth secretary at Central YMCA, spoke on "Youth on the March," outlining what the young people should be taught to give them a concept for Christian living and service.

The Cramer-Potter Circle was hostess for the social hour.

Wilton Syckes Is Guest Artist Of Music Group

Wilton Syckes was guest artist of the Music Group of the Woman's Civic Club at its meeting yesterday afternoon at the Public Library. He prefaced his program with a short story about the violin he was using. It was a Cappa violin made in 1636 and is the property of Garret Swearingen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Swearingen. The violin was made in the same year that one of Mr. Swearingen's ancestors was born.

Mr. Syckes stated that the Stradivarius is the finest violin made but that the Cuarnieri, Amati and Cappa, about on a par, run a very close second. He stated that the Cappa was the finest he has played upon.

His program included "Csardas" by V. Monti; "Songs My Mother Taught Me," Dvorak, arranged by Fritz Kreisler; "My Dream of Love," Dave Rubinoff; "Liebesfreud," Kreisler; "Liebesleid," Kreisler; "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," as played by Kreisler and arranged by Clarence Cameron White. Mrs. Swearingen was accompanist.

Members were greeted by Mrs. William L. Keller, who turned the meeting over to Mrs. Mabel Pope, program chairman for the day. Introducing Mr. Syckes, she stated that he had won numerous contests, beginning between the ages of 10 and 12 and winning a contest at 15, for only the finest violin students.

He entered Oberlin College, intending to study to be a concert violinist, but the war interfered. After attending the Navy Music School, Washington, he was assigned to the band on the Enterprise, playing wind instruments. He, however, had taken his violin with him and entertained the boys when they were not on watch. Returning with the Enterprise he was appointed to the United States Navy Band, that being the president's band. He entertained on numerous occasions at the White House.

Jack Platt, director of music in Allegany County schools, recognizing his genius, called him to Cumberland, where he directs the string groups in the schools.

Personals

Paul De Marcay, formerly of the Cumberland Country Club, underwent an eye operation at St. Joseph's Hospital, Tampa, Fla., yesterday.

George H. Leith returned to his home, 122 Seymour Street, Monday, after being a patient in Memorial Hospital.

Alumnae Chapter Plans Yule Party And Gift Basket

Members of the Alumnae Chapter of Eta Upsilon Gamma formulated plans for its Yuletide activities at a meeting, Monday night, at the residence of Miss Nelva Jean Rafter, 612 Washington Street.

The group voted to send a basket of fruit to the County Home for Christmas and for each member to bring cookies to the next meeting, to be included with the fruit.

December 2 was selected for the date of the Christmas party to avoid conflicting with the concert date. It will be held at the home of Mrs. Catherine Catlett Wolfe, Park Street, at which time secret sisters will be revealed. Ideas for Christmas decorations in the home will be exchanged and illustrated.

A letter was read from Mrs. Dorothy Kaplon Olin, Arlington, Va., in reply to the round robin letter sent by the sorority.

A social hour concluded the meeting and refreshments were served. The table was centered with a bouquet of fall flowers and the same decorations were used throughout the house.

Members attending were Mrs. William Hahn, Mrs. Paul Goldsworthy, Mrs. Whiting Linaberg, Mrs. Jean Green and Miss Lillian Boughton.

Catholic Daughters Donate To Chest, Jewish Welfare

Court Cardinal Gibbons, 529, Catholic Daughters of America, voted a contribution of $25 for the Community Chest and $5 for Jewish Welfare at a meeting Monday night.

Plans were formulated for the monthly social to be held at 8:30 November 17 in the William Paca Club, North Centre Street. The committee in charge will be members whose birthdays are in December, and guests are to be those whose birthdays are in November.

The court was complimented by Mrs. Marie Victory, Washington, D. C., state regent, when she visited here Sunday, on being a close second in membership to Baltimore City Court. Mrs. Victory also outlined the state and national CDA program, which is for each court to adopt a family in Europe.

Four state officers attended the reception for the 43 new members, Mrs. Victory, Mrs. Mary Shaffer Jones, this city, state chairman of study clubs; Mrs. Anna McCleary, this city, state monitor; and Mrs. Nora Dickel, Mt. Savage, district deputy. Guests also attended from Washington and Martinsburg.

Mrs. Cecelia Albright, grand regent, welcomed the new members and announced that the court is having a dance at the Fort Cumberland Hotel ball room, Friday night, with Bill Gray's Orchestra playing from 9 until 1. She also introduced Mrs. Victory and presented her with a corsage of roses. Father Lawrence P. Landrigan, new chaplain of the court, congratulated the new members on joining an organization with such ideals for womanhood. Mrs. Nora Fleming, past state regent, was also introduced.

A seminar was condcted by Mrs. Jones, assisted by Miss Martha Reagan, Mt. Savage; Mrs. Adelaide Logsdon, Mt. Savage, and Miss Carmela Guarino, this city. Following the degree work Mrs. McCleary and Mrs. Albright sang "Lovely Lady in Blue," while Miss Carmelita Whitehair depicted the Blessed Virgin.

The birthdays of members were recorded and it was decided that members will exchange cards on the occasions. Names were also distributed for jingle presents next month. Mrs. I. H. Smith and Mrs. Robert Streett each donated a dollar toward the Jean Rowland Circle. For the project for next month it was decided to present a Christmas play for the church. The worship service was conducted by Louella Perdew.

Concluding the meeting games were played and refreshments were served by Goldie Imes and Shirley Fier, co-hostesses.

Hostesses for the next meeting are Evaline Armbruster and Helen Perdew. It will be held at the home of the latter, 54½ Marion Street, December 1.

"Cleaning Clinic" Drawing Big Crowds Of Housewives

To say housewives are interested in discovering shortcuts in their cleaning problems is putting it mildly, if you could see the throngs attending the "Cleaning Clinic" at Rosenbaum's (Housewares — 4th floor). Its biggest appeal is in the fact that it shows women how to really clean upholstered furniture and rugs safely, quickly and economically. Miss Olive Cato representing The Mystic Foam Corp. of Cleveland, Ohio is in charge of the "Clinic", and because her special training and wide experience in cleaning problems is proving exceedingly helpful to Cumberland housewives. She does amazing things with the cool dry foam of Mystic Foam (incidentally it's the only upholstery and rug cleaner guaranteed by Good Housekeeping and Parents Magazine, and approved by the American Medical Association) without soaking through the surface or wetting the padding.

Mystic Foam is non-explosive, non-inflammable, and quick drying. It can also be used for cleaning fine fabrics and auto upholstery. But there's more to the "Cleaning Clinic" than Mystic Foam—there's a companion product, Mystic Zip, which cleans woodwork, painted walls, venetian blinds without rinsing, wiping or drying. Housewives love it. And there's the sensational new Mystic Dri-Quik for dry cleaning dresses, ties, sweaters, gloves, etc., at big savings, and without leaving any odor. Saturday is the last day of this interesting and helpful "Cleaning Clinic"—be sure to come and see it.—Advertisement

12 Million Dollars can't prevent a Gas Shortage this winter!

But maybe You can!

For the year 1947 your gas company allocated 12 million dollars toward the ultimate plan of preventing gas shortages.

Yet there could easily be a gas shortage this winter.

More people than ever before depend on gas for home heating, cooking, water heating and refrigeration. This unprecedented demand keeps present gas supply lines loaded to capacity even in normal winter weather. A sudden cold wave doubles this demand, reducing pressures in the lines to dangerously low levels.

Actually, there is plenty of natural gas at the source—in the abundant gas fields of Texas and Oklahoma and even in the nearby gas wells of Pennsylvania and West Virginia. The scarcity exists in the capacity of the pipe lines that bring this precious fuel from the source to your home.

Although we allocated 12 million dollars to expand our distribution and gas storage facilities—a part of this expansion program will not be completed this year due to shortages in vital materials. The work that has been completed will help considerably . . . but we must still ask our customers to cooperate by conserving this precious fuel wherever possible.

Help Save this Precious Fuel

1. Please don't use your gas range to heat your kitchen.

2. Do your washing on some other day than Monday.

3. Set your furnace thermostat at 68°—still lower at night.

4. Shut off rooms not in use—particularly attics and second floor bedrooms.

5. Don't use gas heaters to supplement your furnace.

6. Use hot water sparingly—don't keep it running needlessly.

7. Install storm sash and insulation—your savings on heating bills will amaze you.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Wife Continually Throws Husband's Mistake Into His Face

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Sad as it seems, when a wife has had to go through the grief of her husband's infidelity, there are times when one can't help wondering why some husbands ever stay home. For there are wives so unintelligent in their way of handling such a situation, so foolish in their subsequent attitude toward it, as to make one feel the erring husband is a long-suffering man indeed if he stays home and settles down. Such wives, I would say, have only themselves to blame if they drive their husbands right back into the arms of the women they recently left.

Take the one who tells her story in the following letter:

"My husband and I have been married ten years," she says, "and have three lovely children. We always prided ourselves on our ability to get along until I heard rumors about his running around with other women. And one night I actually saw him with one.

"Since then, I have been so unhappy I just don't know what to do. I think I should leave him if I ever wish to get my pride back. But then again I must think of the children.

"On the other hand, however, it might be better for the children if we did separate, because I constantly bring up the subject and remind him of what he had done, and I know that is bad for the children. As hard as I try, I can't forget it. It is constantly on my mind. I am not even a good mother any more because I am always irritable and cross around the children, pitying myself now for being tied down to them.

"My husband doesn't want a separation. He says he loves the children and me, but that to me is almost impossible to believe. I just can't see how our marriage can ever mean anything again.

"He seldom leaves the house now, but when he is at home all he does is read and sleep. He seems pretty much indifferent at home. How can a man who says he loves his family be so indifferent toward them and put them through such a scandal? I don't doubt but that he does love us in his selfish way. But he needs an eyeopener and I don't quite know how to give it to him without making a bad situation worse.

"He is very good to us financially, but that girl is always between us. He says he never thinks of her except when I mention her and that he certainly was never in love with her, but how can I ever trust him again? Should I leave him and gain back my self-respect, or live with him with this barrier always between us? I still love him very much, but I am sure I could get over that in time better than his infidelity."

Now, what chance has this couple to build up their life together again with the wife continually throwing her husband's mistake into his face all the time? She says that he stays home practically all the time now, so apparently she has nothing to worry about. But, instead of being cheerful, she harps continually on something that seems to be over and done with.

She seems to feel that pride and self-respect will not be satisfied until She leaves her husband. To my way of thinking, it would show a great deal more of pride and self-respect if she were content to bury the past and concentrate on making such a happy home for her husband and children that he would never want to leave it.

As things are at present, this wife is simply indulging herself in an orgy of self-pity and resentment, thereby making not only herself but her husband and children thoroughly miserable. Only time, of course, can tell whether or not the husband will continue to stay at home with her instead of seeking the company of other women. But her present behavior would certainly do little to hold him and much to drive him away again.

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

The Inside Story on why...

JOSEPH E. FARRELL* SWITCHED TO CALVERT

JOE is a busy man these days—he's carpenter on new home building projects. "What switched me to Calvert," he says, "was its more agreeable taste. It's smoother than the high-priced whiskey I once favored."

BRIDGE is one of Joe's evening pleasures—and so is a highball made with Calvert. "My bridge pals are switching to Calvert, too," he says. "It makes sense—buying a whiskey that makes a drink smoother and milder."

If you would be wise about your choice of whiskey, switch to Calvert. Greater experience in blending has given Calvert a more congenial smoothness, a pleasanter taste, we believe, than other whiskies anywhere near the price!

Girl Is Injured When Hit By Car North Of Danville

Accident Is Termed Unavoidable By Police

An 11-year-old Route 3, Keyser, W. Va., girl was injured, not believed seriously, when she was hit by an automobile one and a half miles north of Danville on Route 220 at 4:20 p. m. yesterday, but State Police termed the accident "unavoidable."

State Trooper Harry Bosley, who investigated, identified the injured girl as Anna Lee Miller and said she was admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, for observation after suffering brush burns of the head and legs and a slight cut on the back of her head in the accident.

No charges were filed against Zadock C. Kalbaugh, Westernport, said by State Police to be the driver of the car.

Officers said Zadock told them he saw the girl standing on his left side of the road and that when his car got close to her she suddenly whirled and darted across the highway.

Zadock "hit the brakes," just missed a bridge and hit a wooden fence, moving it back several feet, in his effort to avoid striking the child.

Officers said Zadock's car was skidding when the left front fender hit the girl a glancing blow. Zadock's car was only two feet on the roadway when she was struck, Trooper Bosley said.

He added that Zadock jumped from his machine, grabbed the child and hailed an approaching automobile to take her to the hospital. His car was said to be considerably damaged from hitting the fence.

Hospital attaches, who said the girl was "bruised up and apparently more than enything," said she was a daughter of Arthur Miller, Black Oak, W. Va., and was staying with a Mrs. Tichnell.

Two automobiles were involved in an accident 300 feet east of Evitts Creek Bridge on Oldtown Road at 12:20 p. m. yesterday.

Trooper Bosley, the investigator, listed the drivers as Henry R. Rutherford, Spring Gap, and Ray Dencil Moore, Oldtown, and said the latter will be given a hearing on a reckless driving charge in Trial Magistrates Court here Thursday.

The officer explained that Rutherford started to pass Moore, going in the same direction, but that Moore cut into the rear of Rutherford and hit the latter's amtomobile. Both cars were slightly damaged but no one was injured.

Chest Has 48

ies supported and maintained by the Chest.

The Salvation Army, YMCA, Boy and Girl Scouts, and Keating Memorial Day Nursery, do most of their work with the young people of the city. Every dollar spent by and for these organizations, helps keep young minds and hands occupied. These organizations are helping mold the future citizens of Cumberland. The community's future civic leaders, business men, religious leaders, and good citizens, will come from these organizations.

The city cooperated on flood control and stands ready to spend millions on a project for the good of all residents. It is something for the future and something which will endure through generations.

But the investment made in the youth of the community, is far more important, campaign leaders exclaim. One division leader declared, "If we make one good citizen out of a potentially bad boy or girl, its worth every dollar the Chest ever asked for."

Every One Must Give

There are 500 good neighbors in Cumberland who are working as volunteers in this campaign. They are calling on all the employed people, all the wage earners in the community, asking for a contribution toward the Community Chest. These people volunteer their time and energies, because they know of the crying needs which arise in the community daily, for help of all kinds. They know of the work done by the agencies dependent largely on the Community Chest for support. They depend on every man and woman, with a job, to do his or her little bit.

The chairman of the budget committee declared, "It tears your heart out to cut down the amounts these agencies request, when the need for more is so desperate." But the situation has gone beyond that point, campaign leaders said last night. Budgets will be reduced further, if the goal is not reached, and this means suffering for some who may need help and can get it no other way."

The Community Chest is a democratic institution, operated and managed in a free democratic manner. It is as American as baseball, sweet corn, and jitterburgs. It's the kind of institution which helps the whole community for the great good it does. Its a chance to make a charitable dollar go farther and do more good, when and where it is genuinely needed.

More than 1,000 cities follow the Community Chest plan. Millions of the nation's citizens use this means as a humane way of caring for those less fortunate. Ninety-seven percent of these cities annually reach their goals. Three percent is the largest that ever failed.

Is Cumberland a three percent city, or will the Chest goal be subscribed by wholehearted effort and goodness of heart, just as the flood business was fought through?

There are less than 48 hours for you to decide.

The morning session opened with a prayer by Rev. R. L. Wittig, former pastor of Emmanuel Methodist Church, who is now retired.

Ministers of the Hagerstown District were elected to the following committees:

Licensing local preachers—N. L. Trott, chairman; B. I. Barnes, Walter M. Michael.

Layman's Day Scheduled

Announcing that the third Sunday in February will be observed as Layman's Day by the Methodist Church, A. H. Warne, Hagerstown, lay leader of the district, asked each pastor to turn his pulpit over to a lay leader on that day.

Warne urged support of the Christian Advocate, the national Methodist weekly publication, in its drive for a 15 percent subscription increase.

Associate lay leaders, nominated by Warne and elected by the conference, are Edgar W. King, Hagerstown; J. R. Poland, Martinsburg; Harry B. Simpson and Robert W. Young, both of Cumberland.

Other Statistics Noted

Benevolences totaled $16,611; world-wide communion offering, $2,186; paid by Woman's Societies of Chirstian Service for local work, $9,100, and for missions, $3,795; paid on indebtedness, $4,625; for district missionary society, $1,440, and for improvements to church and parsonage property, $45,665.

Rev. Norman L. Trott, pastor of St. Paul's Church in Hagerstown and president of the Board of Child Care, said that 288 children were cared for during the past year in the three children's homes in the Baltimore Conference. They are the Kelso Home for Girls in Baltimore; Strawbridge Home for Boys at Eldersburg, and the Swartzell Home in Washington.

Eighty guests are now being cared for in the Asbury Methodist Home for the Aged in Gaithersburg, with an average age of 50 years, the oldest being 97, according to Rev. Herman M. Wilson, superintendent.

Aged Westernport Woman Awarded $300 By Jury

Claims Landlord Injured Her Hip

A Circuit Court jury returned a verdict yesterday for $300 in favor of Mrs. Minnie Evarts, 71-year-old tenant of a Westernport house, against her landlord, Garland Groves, for hip injuries she claims to have suffered when Groves allegedly assaulted her last January in a dispute over $8 rent.

Edward J. Ryan, represented Mrs. Evarts in court, with Horace P. Whitworth, Sr., attorney for Groves. The jury, after hearing testimony, deliberated about half an hour.

Mrs. Evarts, a widow, on the rolls of Allegany County Welfare Board, testified that Groves came to her house and wanted her to pay him $8, which she claims she nid not owe. She also testified he would not let her move until she paid the $8.

Groves refused to leave her home when ordered to do so, the plaintiff told the jury, and after he allegedly shoved her, she picked up a poker, and told him several times to get out. It was then, she claims that he pushed her over several crates full of dishes, injuring her hip.

In his testimony, Groves denied hurting the aged woman, and said he went to th ehouse to see what could be done about the rent as his son was getting married and needed the house. Groves said he had spent $1,000 on repairs and improvements to the place. Groves said when the woman threatened him with the poker, he grabbed the end of it in self-defense.

Whitworth told the jury to pay no attention to "attempts to play on your sympathies," and asked for a verdict for his client.

Ryan argued that Groves is a man weighing 176 pounds and centainly should have no fear of a little 71-year-old woman. The attorney recalled that Groves had referred to Mrs. Evarts in his testimony as "Grandma," and said to the jury. "Yes, he called her 'grandma', but so did the wolf in the story of Little Red Riding Hood."

American Progress

"When John Wesley Hyatt invented celluloid, he made jobs for hundreds," Dr. Dew said. "When Baekeland invented bakelite, he created jobs for thousands. But organized research in the plastics field created jobs for tens of thousands.

The speaker showed representative samples of various stages of development in the plastics industry, including some so new as to be still in the experimental stage.

"These are the symbols of a marching country," he said, "of a country that is no longer content to plod and experiment only in kitchens and sheds. More than 16,000 freight-car loads of plastics will be manufactured for Americans this year, at savings of untold thousands of tons of other badly needed materials, and of untold millions of dollars in reduced wastes and other costs to the public.

"The reason for this advance? Somewhere back along the line, they learned that everybody would gain if science, labor, and capital got together, first, to share the risks, second, to share the problems, and third, to share the benefits, too."

Dr. Dew showed his audience a hypodermic needle, which, in 1935, was the only equipment that existed for making nylon. He also held up a filament of nylon.

Products Are Exhibited

"What you see in my two hands," he said, "was the nylon industry in the year of 1935. This hypodermic needle was the plant. This filament was the product. Seven years of time and a fortune in money had been spent in bringing nylon to this point. Of course, there was a formula, too, some chemical data on paper. But that was the industry."

He described what happened after that, with textile technologists, engineers, physicists, metallurgists, cost accountants, and production and marketing experts moving in. He told how, in 1938, almost eleven years after the beginning of research, du Pont announced the invention of nylon.

He recalled the plight of the country when the silk supply was cut off at its source, and told how nylon stepped into the gap. He pointed out that, in 1941, nylon plant capacity, actual or in construction, came to more than two million miles of nylon yarn every day.

Dr. Dew, showing dozens of new chemical products, used them to document his thesis that the American standard of living was raised both from the point of view of expanding employment and of more and better things at lower prices for all consumers by the teamwork of many groups.

Former LaSalle Instructor Dies

Brother Charles Rites Will Be Held Saturday

A requiem mass for Brother Eadbert Charles, 68, retired professor of chemisty at LaSalle College, Philadelphia, and a former member of the faculty of LaSalle High School here, who died suddenly Monday in Philadelphia, will be celebrated Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the Church of the Holy Child, Philadelphia.

Viewing of the body will take place Friday afternoon and night in LaSalle College chapel. Burial will be in Ammendale, Md.

Brother Charles died suddenly early Monday night while eating in the dining hall of LaSalle College.

Brother Charles, a native of Philadelphia, observed his golden anniversary as a teacher June 12, 1946, having entered the Society of the Brothers of Christian Schools in June 1896.

He received his grammar school education at St. Peter's Parochial School, Philadelphia, and entered the Novitiate of the Christian Brothers at Ammendale in 1896. He was a member of the faculty of LaSalle College continuously from 1932 to June 1947. Prior to that he taught there for a year in 1902, and another year in 1911 and for seven years from 1921 to 1928.

After completing his training as a Christian Brother and teacher, he received his master's degree from Catholic University and for his knowledge in chemistry was awarded an honorary Doctor of Science degree at Duquesne University, Pittsburgh, in June, 1927.

His teaching career was long and brilliant. After finishing his training at Ammendale, Brother Charles went to Rock Hill College, Ellicott City, Md., where he taught in 1901. He then went to LaSalle College for the first time in 1902, later going to St. Thomas College in Scranton, Pa.

In 1912 and 1913 Brother Charles taught at LaSalle High School here. He was next at Calvert Hall College, Baltimore, for a year and returned to LaSalle to teach from 1915 to 1917.

After leaving Cumberland, Brother Charles taught at St. John's College, Washington, and then went back to LaSalle College in 1921. He was at West Catholic High School, Philadelphia, in 1928 but returned to LaSalle College in 1933, remaining there until he died. He was retired last summer but remained at LaSalle College.

Miss Helen Smith, director of school dramatics, is in charge of both presentations. The program will be concluded with a reading, "Prayer for Our Country," by Helen Lamp, a senior.

Recognizing the joint responsibility which the churches and schools share in helping to establish a peaceful world community, the school has invited ministers to share in the program of American Education Week by emphasizing the topic, "Securing the Peace," in church services on November 9.

Council Changes

He explained that the cost of living already has increased that much.

In addition, Kimble stated, another part of the administration sales tax proposal provides that food if purchased and consumed at home is not taxable, but that if it is consumed away from home it is taxable. The present law provides that food consumed off the premises where it is purchased is not taxable.

The Senator explained that under present law, if a worker buys a cup of coffee and a sandwich at a restaurant and consumes it off the premises it is not taxable. The new law, he said, makes that coffee and sandwich taxable if it is consumed off the premises but not at home.

Kimble also will oppose, he said, an administration measure giving the three-member Board of Public Works authority to raise or lower taxes if they believe excess revenue justifies it.

The board can increase the sales tax exemption, reduce income taxes and reduce real estate taxes if they deem it advisable under the governor's program, Kimble asserted.

He declared this an "unconstitutional delegation of power" from the legislative to the executive branch of the government.

The chief aim of the organization is to preserve community health and prevent diseases among children.

Other officers elected are Mrs. Paul LaRue, vice chairman; Mrs. Robert Slemmer, secretary; Mrs. John Coleman, treasurer; Mrs. Miles Mathews, chairman of Barrelville section; Mrs. White, chairman for Ellerslie; Mrs. John Goff, chairman for Corriganville.

Poll Shows Opposition Party Now Leading In Popularity In Britain

Conservatives Run Ahead In Survey

By Dr. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., November 4—Although Winston Churchill's moves to expel the Attlee government of Britain have been unsuccessful in parliament, public support has been dropping away from Attlee's Labor Party.

For the first time since the general election of 1945, the Conservatives are running ahead of the Labor Party in popular voting support. Many voters say the Labor Party has pushed its naturalization program too quickly.

Latest British Institute poll results show that 44 per cent of voters expressing an opinion say they would vote Conservative if a general election were held tomorrow, as compared to 40 per cent who say they would vote Labor, and 16 per cent Liberal and other parties.

The date for the next general election is 1950 and none can be held before then unless the House of Commons votes "no confidence" in the present Attlee government—a step which Mr. Churchill, as leader of the Conservative opposition, has four times tried to accomplish. Each time the parliamentary ranks of the Labor Party have remained solid enough to defeat the motion.

The trend of sentiment among British voters, as distinguished from their representatives in parliament, is shown in the following results of British Institute polls during the past two years:

"If there were a general election tomorrow, how would you vote?"

| | 1945 Election | May '46 | May '47 | Today |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Labor | 49% | 45% | 44% | 40% |
| Conservative | 39 | 39 | 44 | 44 |
| Liberal | 9 | 13 | 10 | 11 |
| Others | 3 | 3 | 2 | 5 |

One voter in eight—12 per cent—expressed no preference in the latest survey.

* * *

THE British public is closely divided on the question whether the present government is too socialistic. Those who think it is are balanced numerically by those who think it is either not socialistic enough or about right on that score.

But there does seem to be a crystallizing of feeling that the program of nationalization of basic industries has proceeded too rapidly, and perhaps too inefficiently. A substantial number of voters think that the government is to use the British phrase, "muddling along."

"In its general policy, do you think the Labor Government has been too socialistic, not socialistic enough or just about right?"

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Too socialistic | 42% | 45% |
| About right | 30 | |
| Not socialistic enough | 15 | |
| No opinion | 13 | |

"Do you think that the government has pushed along nationalization too quickly, not quickly enough, or at about the right pace?"

| | |
|---|---|
| Too quickly | 51% |
| About right | 26 |
| Not quickly enough | 9 |
| No opinion | 14 |

"Do you feel that the government knows what it is doing, or that it is just muddling along?"

| | |
|---|---|
| Knows | 44% |
| Muddling along | 49 |
| No opinion | 7 |

However, most Britishers feel that the present economic crisis in their land is not the fault of the government, but that it was bound to come no matter what steps the government took.

"Do you think that our present economic crisis was bound to come, or could the government have avoided it?"

| | |
|---|---|
| Bound to come | 60% |
| Could have been avoided | 31 |
| No opinion | 9 |

SALES TAX MUST BE COLLECTED ON CHRISTMAS CARDS

BALTIMORE—"Persons who sell Christmas cards for their own benefit or for the benefit of some charitable or religious organization must collect the sales tax on the cards they sell," James J. Lacy, State Comptroller and administrator of the Maryland Retail Sales Tax Act, announced today. "If the sale is made for the benefit of some institution which already has a sales tax license, the person selling the cards should collect the tax from the customer and he may make his return under the license of the organization for whose benefit he is making the sale.

"Other persons who sell cards for their own benefit may be able to make their returns in the following manner:

"If the firms whose products are sold have taken out a sales tax license, the price of the merchandise can be collected by the individual plus the tax, and the tax turned over to the manufacturer for payment to the State. If the manufacturer does not wish to assume this task, however, the individual seller must take out the license and pay the dollar and make his return direct to the Sales Tax Division at 15 West Baltimore Street."

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

"Did you ever feel sorry for a crook?" I asked Mike Romano.

"Once," said my favorite detective.

I signaled a waiter. "Two coffees and a double portion of cherry cheesecake for my friend," I said.

"Artie Blake wasn't a bad little guy," mused Mike, reaching for a toothpick. "He'd probably still be picking pockets in Chicago if he hadn't called me a flatfoot. That flotfoot stuff I don't go for. I'll bet even Gable ain't got nicer arches . . ."

Billy Rose

"I know, I know," I cut in. "I've seen them and they're lovely."

"Too bad Blake didn't have your taste and discernment," said the detective. "If he hadn't made that 'flatfoot' crack, he might still be operating on Michigan Avenue."

"You said you were sorry for him. How come?" I asked.

"Well, to begin with," said Mike, "Artie was a delicate fellow, and I'm sure prison don't agree with him. Besides, he had class. He never lifted a poke except from someone who could afford it. I always liked his hands—a great pair of mitts—something like a piano player. When he first got into the business, he rigged up a dummy with a lot of little bells on it. He practiced until he could life a wallet out of any of the pockets without so much as a tingle. A real artist. In eight years of trying, the Chicago police couldn't pin a carnation on him.

"Once a year Artie would come to New York for a vacation. We never bothered him. Years ago he promised me he wouldn't mix business with his good times, and he never went back on his word. Artie was crazy about two things—horses and music. Used to spend his afternoons at Belmont and his evenings at Carnegie Hall. There was a gag around the Department that he once got mixed up and tried to bet two bucks on Toscanini's nose.

"Last Fall we got the regular tip from Chicago that Artie was coming in on the Broadway Limited. I went down to Penn Station to give him the routine warning about keeping his itchy fingers out of strange pockets. For some reason, Artie got peeved and said I was persecuting him. Told me he spent his money in New York like any other tourist and was entitled to the same consideration. I saw he had a point, and I was about to apologize when he called me a bad name."

"It wouldn't be 'flatfoot,' would it?" I asked.

The man with the curvacious tootsies scowled. "Any other crack I'd have let pass," he said, "but that one I wouldn't take from the Commissioner himself."

"How did you go about squaring the insult?" I asked.

"The old psycholomagee," said Mike. "I knew the dip intended to keep his promise about being a good boy in New York. I had him tailed. Artie spent the afternoon at Belmont. That night he took in a concert at Carnegie Hall. During intermission, he went out to the lobby for a smoke. A gent in tails asked Artie for a light. They got talking about the fiddle player on the program and his sensitive fingers. The gent in tails volunteered he was pretty sensitive himself—that the doctors at Johns Hopkins had told him he was more sensitive to touch than any patient they'd ever examined. He made some crack about being able to feel an ant crawling up the side of his overcoat.

"Naturally, this brag was too much for Artie. It was like showing Joe Louis a chin and telling him nobody could hurt it."

"I take it the gent in tails was one of your men," I said to Mike.

"You're learning," the detective chuckled. "Charlie Jackson from homicide."

"Did Artie break his word and lift Jackson's wallet?" I asked. "And if he did, why were you sorry for him?"

"Actually, Artie kept his word," said Romano coralling the last few crumbs of cheesecake. "He lifted Jackson's wallet without Jackson getting wise. We caught him when he tried to put it back."

Richmond Big Bears To Play Here Sunday

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(AP)—Two guys who will try to knock each other senseless come December 5 met face to face in the 20th Century Sporting Club's offices, prompting a brilliant conversational interlude.

"Hello, Joe."

"Hello, Joe."

That was all until a little later when Jessey Joe Walcott and Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis met again at the State Athletic Commission to make their 15-round title bout at Madison Square Garden official by signing articles.

They sat side by side at a table, with managers, promoters and commissioners peering over their shoulders from odd angles as the photographers had a field day recording for posterity the deathless scene.

Patiently they sat, each with a pen poised over a contract, while flash bulbs blinked endlessly. Finally they were asked to shake hands.

"A nice, big smile now," the photographers pleaded. Louis' dead pan face showed no expression, but his lips parted slightly.

"Ha-Ha", he mumbled, as a man would mutter when something struck him as decidedly unfunny. Walcott, who smiles easily, had no trouble assembling a wide, toothy grin. Finally Louis managed to twist up one corner of his mouth in a cock-eyed imitation of a smile, and the photographers let it go at that.

As the last flash bulb popped Manny Seamon, the champion's trainer, leaped forward and took the pen from Louis's hand and tucked it safely in a pocket. Maybe he had lost pens before.

The champion and challenger sat for a couple of minutes gazing straight ahead and saying nary a word. Finally they rose to go, and were heading for the door, studiously ignoring each other, when Col Strauss, acting promoter, thought of something.

"Hey," he ejaculated. "You haven't signed yet."

The two Joes returned to their seats and were handed pens. Methodically they signed the documents in triplicate. The champion affixed his name as "Joe Louis Barrow." Walcott's name went on the line as Jersey Joe Walcott.

There was minor confusion as spectators tried to pump a little pertinent information from the rival Joes.

"How much do you weigh, Joe?" the question was directed at Walcott.

"I weighed about 216 a couple of weeks ago," Louis answered. It finally was ascertained that little Joe, or Walcott, weighs about 200 and expects to pare that figure down to a fighting weight of 192.

"Can do that just in routine training," he said with a broad grin.

Louis did not seem particularly plump at 216, despite the fact he was swathed in a big camel hair topcoat.

"He can stand to weigh 208 or 209 for the fight," the faithful Seamon explained. "He carries his weight well."

The champion, despite his 22 title defenses and his battles on his way to the title, has a smooth, unmarked countenance and his ears still are as nature fashioned them. The big guy has taken little punishment in his career. Max Schmeling was the only man to really hurt him.

In fact, he hasn't had a real ring workout since his first bout with Billy Conn more than six years ago. His other bouts have been either low motion affairs where he took a time getting his opponent set for the kill, or quickies.

Nobody expects him to get too much of a workout December 5, either.

Virginia Team Is Seventh Foe Of Blue Bolts

Five Other Games Booked By Locals

Jubilant over their 33 to 0 triumph over the Martinsburg (W. Va.) Spitfires here last Sunday, Coach "Buck" Shober's Cumberland Blue Bolts are holding daily practice sessions this week in preparation for the invasion of the Richmond (Va.) Big Bears, all negro gridders, who will be met on Sunday at 2:30 p. m. in Community Park.

It will be the 7th game of the season for the locals who shook the "blues" last Sunday and "bolted" to five touchdowns and a well deserved triumph. Prior to that Shober's men had lost four games and played one scoreless tie.

The Richmond team, according to Jack Klosterman, publicity man for the Bolts, holds a 40 to 6 victory over the Spitfires.

Five other games—two here and three away—have been booked by the Blue Bolts' management.

On Sunday, November 16, the Beaverdale Coal Barons will be met at the Point Stadium in Johnstown, Pa.

A night game will be played with the Crabtree Blue Devils on Saturday, November 22 in Pittsburgh.

The South End A.C., of Hagerstown, will play here Sunday, November 23.

On Sunday, November 30 the Merrick Boys' Club (Washington, D. C.) will be the attraction here.

The Martinsburg American Legion will be played on Sunday, December 7 at Newton D. Baker Field, Martinsburg.

Drills are being held by the Blue Bolts daily at 4 p. m. at Community Park.

TAPS FOR MAN O' WAR—Taps were sounded at the conclusion of services yesterday for the hero of Samuel D. Riddle's Faraway Farm, Man O' War. Two thousand persons attended the burial ceremony in Kentucky. Note the bugler in the foreground and the giant crane which lowered the box containing the great thoroughbred into the excavation beneath a giant block of New Hampshire blue granite. On that base the bronze statue of Man O' War will arise. (See Page 14 for story).

St. Louis Club Buys Contract Of Muddy Ruel

1946 Pilot Stunned By Prexy's Action

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 4 (AP)—Herold (Muddy) Ruel was dismissed today as manager of the St. Louis Browns and Zach Taylor, former coach for the club, was signed to a one-year contract, William O. Dewitt, Brownie general manager, said.

Zack Taylor

Ruel's dismissal was made public earlier today by club president Richard C. Muckerman who said directors of the club will buy up his contract for next year because they were dissatisfied with his work.

Taylor, who served with the Pittsburg Pirates last year, was acting manager of the Browns for a brief period in 1946 before Ruel took over the job.

Ruel, who resigned as assistant to Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler to take over the Brownie post a year ago, became the second consecutive manager to be fired at the halfway point after contracting for a two-year term.

The 51-year-old Ruel, a native of St. Louis, took issue with a statement by Muckerman that although the club finished last this year, the material on hand was sufficient for a first division team. Ruel declared he was "stunned," by the action, and added:

"Mr. Muckerman said he was disappointed in the showing of the club, and disappointed in my work. Well, I couldn't deny that the showing of the club disappointed all of us after we started the season in the cellar and trailed in that position throughout the American League race. I could not agree with the club owner on the second point—my own record."

"I fell heir to a seventh place team, and I feel certain that the material was not on hand to improve the Browns' position."

Jim Fahey Named Captain Of Generals Against VPI

Cumberlander Chosen For Saturday Game

LEXINGTON, Va., Nov. 4 — To lead Washington and Lee's Generals in what their coaches claim must be the greatest game they've played all season if they expect to stay in the ball game with Virginia Tech, veteran end Jim Fahey, of Cumberland, Md., has been chosen captain of the week by his mates.

Fahey was one of the several frustrated W & L men to whom the final 40 seconds of the VPI game at Lynchburg last season brought catastrophe. The Gobblers scored with only seconds to play to overcome a W & L lead and win, 13-7.

The Generals seemed only temporarily upset by their bludgeoning at the hands of an unmerciful Army eleven at West Point last Saturday. Physically, the W & L squad is in about the same shape as when they took off for New York last week. Jim Lukens, Fahey's partner at the other end of the line, is not likely to recover from his shoulder injury in time to make the Lynchburg affair, and Tom Ciancutti, formerly the starting left guard, has been cancelled off the squad roster for the season with injuries received in an automobile accident.

Active in the Army game for a fraction more than one quarter, the Generals' first-string eleven is otherwise in tact for the VPI game.

Although depressed by their intersectional disaster at West Point, Coach Art Lewis' squad has found a stimulant in the fact that a victory over VPI will set them up to an undisputed Southern Conference leadership. Currently tied with Duke for the lead, the Generals can emerge into the top spot while Duke is being entertained outside the family circle. Should the W & L eleven move into the leadership it will be their first such supremacy since they were nearing the championship in 1934.

Fahey's selection to captain the Generals has also added enthusiasm to the effort in progress at Lexington. The Marylander is strictly a "player's player," an under-publicized chap whose consistent efforts at right end have provoked Lewis to brand him "one of the best defensive ends I've seen in this league."

CENTRAL AND BRUCE WILL CLASH TODAY

Central High School of Lonaconing and Bruce High School of Westernport will clash at 3:30 p. m. today in Barton for the Class "C" school soccer championship of Allegany County.

The teams split even during the regular season.

The winner will face the team emerging victorious in the Thurmont Boonsboro game at Hancock, November 11.

Shute And Furgol Lead In Tourney

Post 2-Under-Par 70s In North-South Open

By KEN ALYTA

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 4—(AP)—An old campaigner, Denny Shute of Akron, Ohio, and Ed Furgol of Detroit, in his third year as a professional, posted two-under par 70s today to share the first round lead in the 45th North and South Open Golf Tournament. They held a stroke lead over six rivals as the formidable, 6,879-yard No. 2 course, with its par 72, resisted the efforts of 92 performers.

Shute, two-time national PGA king, and top professional here two years ago when Cary Middlecoff, then an amateur, led them all, fashioned a 36-34, while Furgol, who turned professional shortly after winning the North and South Amateur here in the spring of 1945, put together a pair of 35s.

The 71 group included Atlanta amateur Gene Dahlbender, Jim Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y.; Jack Grout, Harrisburg, Pa.; Al Smith, Winston-Salem, N. C.; George Schoux, Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Johnny Weitzel, Reading, Pa.

Oddly enough, of the six, all but Grout and Turnesa had 34-37 cards. The other pair did it in 35-36.

Three players posted par 72s to make a total of 11 weighing in with regulation figures or better for the $7,500 event. The par shooters were Ed Burke, New Haven, Conn.; Tommy Wright, Knoxville, Tenn., and Glenn Teal, Jacksonville, Fla., who led yesterday's qualifying play with a 68.

Among the six 73 performers was PGA Champion Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, while Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., now a professional, and Toledo amateur Frank Stranahan were in the 74 bracket.

Badminton Club Elects Officers At Session Here

William Somerville Is Named President

The annual meeting of the Cumberland Badminton Club was held last evening at the Cumberland Brewing Company's reception room and officers elected for the coming season as follows:

William Somerville, president; L. E. Van Sant, vice-president; Mrs. William J. Cramer, Jr., secretary; and George Young, Jr., treasurer.

The club is limited to fifty players from Cumberland and the surrounding territory, and was formed in 1939, eight years ago. This year's membership committee is composed of Gordon Bowie, W. J. Cramer, Jr., and Somerville Nicholson.

Meetings are held every Monday and Thursday evenings, and Saturday afternoons in the Fort Hill High School gymnasium, where three badminton courts are available for the club members.

The first evening for playing will be this coming Monday, November 10.

A committee is trying to arrange for the appearance here in the near future of some nationally known badminton players. Such an exhibition was given by the club last winter to a large crowd of spectators.

Mustangs Vault To Third Place In Grid Ratings

Notre Dame Leads, Michigan Is 2nd

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—Notre Dame, hailed today as the No. 1 college football team in the country for the second consecutive week on the basis of returns from the Associated Press poll, faces its stiffest test of the campaign next Saturday when it engages Army's once-beaten but still powerful eleven.

The unbeaten and untied Irish, looking better with each game, were superb in subduing Navy 27-0 last Saturday for their sixth straight victory. As a result, most of the experts hopped on the Irish bandwagon with 106 of the 186 voters selecting them as the No. 1 team.

Michigan, dethroned by the Irish last week, clung to second place by virtue of an 14-7 victory over Illinois in a game that kept the Wolverines on the bowl road. The Wolverines, who have scored 249 points in winning six straight, claimed 56 first place votes. Last week they collected 69.

Southern Methodist, eighth a week ago, made the biggest climb, vaulting into third place by nosing out Texas, 14-13, in a Southwest thriller. The Mustangs picked up seven votes for first place. Penn polled eight first place votes but finished fourth behind SMU. Southern California, Georgia Tech and Penn State ranked fifth, sixth and seventh respectively, the same positions they held last week. Strangely enough ,the Nittany Lions failed to rise from seventh despite their 46-0 romp over Colgate.

Georgia Tech, gained stature from their 7-0 triumph over previously undefeated Duke, received six calls as the top club. USC and Penn State, the only others to get top mention, were named as the best twice each.

The Sports Grill

By PAT ROBINSON

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE SPORTS WRITER

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (INS)—Let's take a quick gander at the football map...there are still seven major teams unbeaten and untied... Georgia Tech, Michigan, Notre Dame, Southern Methodist, Penn, Penn State and Virginia...

And please note they are listed tactfully in alphabetical order...

Penn or Virginia must fall by the wayside Saturday...for they play each other...suspicion is growing that Penn State is the strongest team in the east...

But the big game of the day is, or course, the finale between Army and Notre Dame...

Johnny and Frankie were sweethearts in the old song... and they still are in the Notre Dame backfield...we mean, of course, Johnny Lujack and Frankie Tripucka...the passingest pair in the midwest...

This is the pair Army will have to stop to win...and the collegiate grapevine has it that the Irish will go all out to run up a big score against Army...

Can you recall when any other game engendered so much feeling among the respective partisans?...

Rip Engle . . . veteran Brown University coach . . . scoffs at the so-called tough old days of football . . . He insists the boys today play rougher and tougher . . . and there will be no holds barred at South Bend this Saturday.

Reminds us of the time years ago when the Harvard boys claimed they were all wearing the imprint of the Princeton signet rings after a mean clash with the Tigers . . .

They clash again Saturday but it will be a pink tea compared with that long-gone bruising dog-fight..

Bud Cox . . . Navy scout . . . says Navy's line is just as good as Army's . . . but if that's so, Army will be in for a rough session against the Irish . . . and later against the Middies . . .

The Navy itself is due for another licking . . . this time at the hands of Georgia Tech . . . which, Cox says, is on the light side but very fast and full of finesse . . .

Penn State figures to romp against Temple . . . and has an ear attuned for bids from the Sugar, Orange or Cotton Bowls . . . Georgia Tech vs. Penn State would be a honey . . .

Michigan has a breather with Indiana . . . and Southern Methodist shouldn't have too much trouble overcoming Texas Aggies . . . although one can never be sure about an underdog team in that Texas League . . .

Two of the most improved teams of the year . . . Columbia, conqueror of Army and Dartmouth clash here . . . with Columbia a slight favorite . . .

Off the record, Lou Little expects Notre Dame to take Army . . . but if the Cadets should stage an upset . . . Little is going to laugh himself into the hospital . . .

Some of the finest football played anywhere is put on by some of the smaller colleges . . . Which reminds us we'd like to see a round robin among Muhlenberg, Wesleyan and Denison, three little fellows who could take about half the big fellows . . . and take 'em in stride . . . selah . . .

Lester Patrick's two sons are hockey coaches. Murray handles the St. Paul Saints while his brother Lynn is with the New Haven, Conn., Ramblers.

Mogus Will Play With Youngstown In New Cage Loop

Paul Birch Is Coach, 26 Seek 12 Places

Twenty-six leading cagers from northeastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania are fighting for the 12 available positions with the Youngstown Cubs of the new All-American Professional Basketball League, according to information recejved yesterday from Youngstown, Ohio.

The Cumberland Dukes are in the same circuit with Youngstown, Zanesville, Columbia, Altoona, Akron, Pittsburgh and Wheeling.

Heading Coach Paul Birch's list is none other than Leo Mogus, the 6-foot, 4 inch all-time great from Youngstown College. Mogus accumulated a 19-point, four-year college average which was offset only by his 800 points last season with the last place Toronto Huskies in the B. A. A.

Other widely-known hardwood men on the Cubs' roster include Charles Butler, former Notre Dame captain; Rudy Debnar, Duquesne; Ed Moeller, Ohio State; Jack Mills, Mount Union's All-Ohio guard; six-foot six-inch Fred Paine and Stan Wasik, of Westminster; Bob Hanshew, of Cleveland Rebels; Jack Cramb and Roy Knoll, Youngstown College; Bob Armstring, Glenville Tris and Ned Endress, Ben Flossie and Frank Garcia of Akron U.

Coach Paul Birch's experience with Duquesne, New York Celtics, Ft. Wayne Zollners, National Professional and BAA leagues gives the Cubs a top-flight tutor.

The Cubs open their season at Zanesville, O., on Nov. 29. The following night finds them at Columbus, O., and their third league game in a row is at home with Chich Davies' Altoona team on Dec. 1.

Barton Booters Top Kitzmiller

Beat Garrett Eleven In Second Half, 3-1

BARTON, Md., Nov. 4 — Preparing for their first state tournament game Thursday with Grantsville at Frostburg, Barton High School's booters rallied in the second and third periods today to take Kitzmiller High School of Garrett County into camp by the score of 3 to 1.

Kitzmiller took a 1-0 lead in the second period when Sharpless scored a penalty goal after missing a shot from the penalty line in the opening stanza. Eddie Warnick, Barton goalie, also failed in his try for penalty goal in the second quarter.

Bobby Green knotted the count at 1-1 by scoring on a free kick just outside the penalty area and Warnick registered a penalty goal to give Coach Paul Footen's eleven a 2-1 edge when the third quarter ended. George Ayers scored a field goal on a hook shot in the final period.

James, Kitzmiller goalie, played a nice game at the uprights and handled many chances. Phillips and Kitzmiller also stood out for the losers.

Warnick, Inskeep and Ayers were Barton's best bets.

The Barton-Grantsville game Thursday is scheduled for 2 p. m. in Frostburg. Lineups:

Ducks And Geese Are Reported Plentiful

[By The Associated Press]

Both ducks and geese are more plentiful than last year, sportsmen reported as the first half of Maryland's split 24-day wild waterfowl shooting season opened Tuesday.

The season, shortest in the history of the state, will continue through November 15 and reopen December 23 for another 12-day period ending January 3.

The daily bag limit has been reduced to four, including one wood duck, with a possession limit of eight, including a wood duck.

The daily bag limit on Canadian geese is one, with a possession limit of one.

South End Wildcats Beat Merchants, 55-6

The South End Wildcats football team ran roughshod over the Virginia Avenue Merchants yesterday at Potomac Street field by the score of 55 to 6.

Richard Abe and Joe Wolfe scored four touchdowns each and Gerald Riley made one touchdown and extra point.

Suspension Lifted

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4 — (AP) — Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League today lifted the suspension imposed Oct. 23 on Philip J. Handler, assistant coach of the Chicago Cardinals.

Handler was suspended for his "actions toward officials" during the Cards-Los Angeles Rams Game Oct. 19.

Dizzy Talks Dizzy— But He Ain't Starvin'

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

AP Newsfeatures

DALLAS—Dizzy Dean is home for the winter, getting quoted in the newspapers and laying them in the aisles with his unique use of the English language.

The first thing Diz did was to declare to the world he isn't interested in becoming a disc jockey.

Speaking of a purported $50,000-a-year job that had been offered him, the former major league pitcher and now a baseball commentator over the radio said:

"I told them folks I didn't want no part of it. They wanted me to play records of this—what do you call it?—sympathy music and commutate about all them foreign composers. Me, who can't pronounce all the names in the Cleveland outfield!"

Dean, who explained that he had a five-year contract at $25,000 a year as radio baseball commentator, added: "I couldn't stand the strain of watching them Browns by day and then listening to Rooshian music at night."

He also says the Missouri Teachers Association has abandoned its appeal to the Federal Communications Commission to get Dean thrown off the air. The teachers complained that Dizzy was having a bad effect on thousands of boy and girl listeners, causing the youngsters to make unpardonable errors in speech.

Diz says his only public answer to the teachers' charges is: "They's a lot of people who don't say ain't who ain't eatin'."

Dizzy played in one game for the Browns last season, pitching four scoreless innings and getting one hit before going out with a leg injury.

"Everyone thought I'd be nervous going back after seven years of no playin'," says Diz. "But I just stood up there on the mound calm and confidential and didn't have no trouble at all. I got hurt when I slud into second."

There are times when you imagine a wink from ol' Diz when he uses grammar like that. Well, he can afford to wink—at $25,000 a year, huh!

Canadian Army Horses Score In Garden Show

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. (AP)—Reject, an eight-year-old gelding from the Stanley Barracks at Toronto, carried the colors of the Canadian Army to victory in the military jumping competition at the national horse show tonight, providing a mild surprise for a first night crowd of 10,000 in Madison Square Garden.

Surprising was the fact that U. S. Army riders from Fort Riley, Kansas, who captured the first two places in the military jumping event at the matinee, finished completely out of the money in tonight's affair in which a horse was eliminated for as much as touching one of the eight obstacles.

Conerly Completes 81 Forward Passes

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP) — Chucking Charlie Conerly of Mississippi already has surpassed the 1946 major college mark for forward pass completions.

Conerly completed 12 out of 19 for 121 yards Saturday night as Mississippi beat L. S. U., and brought his completion total for the year to 81 — two more than the 79 with which Travis Tidewell of Auburn led the country last season.

LOCAL 1874 FAVORS BOTTLE RUN PROJECT

Celanese Local 1874, TWUA, has protested to Governor W. Preston Lane, State Senator Robert B. Kimble and the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission against any diversion of the $45,000 appropriated for trout rearing ponds at Bottle Run, Allegany County.

The telegram was signed by William Boyd Coleman, president, and John G. Thomas, business manager of Local 1874.

Meeting in Salisbury on Monday night the game commission failed to take action on a resolution of the League of Maryland Sportsmen which proposed that the spending of $45,000 on the Bottle Run project be postponed until completion of the Beaver Creek Hatchery in Washington County.

Fulcher P. Smith, of Oakland, member of the commission, opposed the MLS proposal, contending that the Beaver Creek Hatchery will not be completed for ten years.

Leslie O'Connor Pays $500 Fine Set By Chandler

Chicago Club Refuses To Accept Resignation

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

CHICAGO, Nov. 4—(AP)—The feud that raged for seven days between Leslie M. O'Connor, general manager of the Chicago White Sox, and A. B. Chandler, commissioner of baseball, over the signing of a 17-year-old Chicago high school pitcher, ended today with O'Connor's "surrender."

The $500 fine imposed by Chandler was paid. Subsequently, Chandler lifted his suspension order denying the privileges of the major league rules and representation to the White Sox and O'Connor, whose offer to resign as general manager was refused by the club.

Peace in one of baseball's biggest jurisdictional controversies was negotiated by President Will Harridge of the American League.

Harridge, in a letter to the White Sox, urged the club to back down in its showdown with Chandler, and requested O'Connor, individually, to refrain from taking any legal action against Chandler, which O'Connor had threatened.

O'Connor, in a letter dated Nov. 4, replied that he would comply with the league's wishes and would have the club directors confirm that agreement. He further advised that the fine had been paid.

"A frank admission of mistakes and error is desirable, I think, in such a situation, so please inform my American League colleagues that I concede I was too obstinate in not acceding, until receipt of your letter, in their view that it is the best interest of the League and of baseball that no league action be taken to secure adjudication and enforcement of our rights."

The controversy started over the action of the White Sox in signing George Zoeterman, pupil of the Chicago Christian High School, a private school, to a 1948 contract.

O'Connor contended that he had violated no rule since the rule as written by the major league executive council and the minor league committee had specifically provided that no student attending a high school which was a member of the National Federation of High School Athletic Asociations could be signed. Chandler interpreted the rule to include all high school athletes in the United States and Canada.

HAGERSTOWN BAND COMING HERE FOR SATURDAY CONTEST

Hagerstown High School's band will accompany Coach Eddie Semler's team here for the game with Fort Hill High School Saturday night at 8 o'clock and will play before the game and during intermission, according to Coach William P. Hahn.

Fort Hill's band also will be on hand for the big evening.

Coach Hahn expressed the hope that the stadium field will dry out before the two games here this weekend. "If rainy weather continues it's going to be a mess," he added.

The Fort Hill squad has been drilling on a muddy practice field this week.

Harvard, Columbia To Clash Next Fall

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—Harvard and Columbia, a pair of Ivy league football teams who haven't played each other since 1901, will meet in 1948 while Army, whose unbeaten string was broken at 32 games 10 days ago by the Lions, will not get a chance for revenge in 1948.

Ralph Furey, Columbia director of athletics, also announced that Holy Cross would be replaced on the 1948 Lion card by Princeton, another Ivy team. The Lou Little eleven thus will play six league games and non-league contests with Rutgers, Navy and Syracuse.

The schedule: Sept. 25, Rutgers; Oct. 2, Harvard; Oct. 9, at Yale; Oct. 16, Pennsylvania; Oct. 23, Princeton; Oct. 30, Cornell; Nov. 6, at Dartmouth; Nov. 13, Navy; Nov. 20, Syracuse.

ELABORATE LAST RITES GIVEN MAN O' WAR AT FARAWAY FARM

Nine Speakers Extol "De Mostest Hoss"

By KYLE VANCE

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 4—(AP)—Last tributes befitting "de mostest hoss" were paid Man O'War today at a burial ceremony attended by an estimated 2,000 persons at Faraway Farm.

The great winner of 20 races and loser of but one—to a horse appropriately named "Upset"—was extolled by nine speakers in what probably was the most elaborate last rites ever given an animal.

Automobiles were parked for almost a mile along Huffman Mill Pike leading to Samuel D. Riddle's vast farm, where "Big Red" spent the last 27 years of his life. He was 30, exceptionally old for a horse, when he died Saturday.

The cover was left off the large oak casket until the 30-minute services were concluded, and many of those filing by to look at the red thoroughbred reached down to touch his flesh.

Handkerchiefs were touched to eyes as the racing and breeding accomplishments of Man O'War were recounted by the speakers.

Ire Drymon, prominent central Kentucky horseman who was master of ceremonies, sketched the history of Man O'War.

The theme was followed by other speakers, A. B. Hancock, Jr., president of the Thoroughbred Club of America; Leslie Combs II, chairman of Keeneland race track; Charles Sturgill, representing the Lexington Board of Commerce; Patrick O'Neill, manager of Faraway Farm; Dr. William McGee, Big Red's veterinarian; J. A. Estes, editor of the Blood Horse Magazine, and Neville Dunn, editor of the Thoroughbred Record.

Reference was made often to the late Will Harbut, Big Red's negro groom for 15 years who proudly proclaimed him as "de mostest hoss in de wuld."

PIMLICO FEATURE WON BY GRANDSON OF MAN O' WAR

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4 (AP) — Just 10 minutes after Man O' War was buried at Faraway Farm near Lexington, Ky., today, one of his grandsons won a $10,000 steeplechase named in honor of one of the great thoroughbred's sons.

The stake was the two mile battleship steeplechase handicap at Pimlico, named for a Man O' War son which went to England and won the Grand National steeplechase at Aintree in 1938.

The winner was Brookmeade Stable's French Flag, which came to the winning line four lengths ahead of Lowry Watkins Tourist List. Another Man O' War Grandson — Thomas T. Mott's Floating Isle, a son of Battleship, was third.

The victory was worth $5,080 to Greek Flag. He negotiated the two miles over heavy turf in 4:13 1-5 and paid $14.60 for $2.

A crowd of 11,442 sent $897,958 through the mutuels during the eight race program.

DiMaggio Comes East For Operation On Arm

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4 (AP) — Joe DiMaggio, New York Yankee outfielder, heads for New York by plane tonight and probably will have a bone chip removed from his throwing arm.

"It looks like an operation," Joe told a reporter today. "I'm going to see the Yankees' doctor when I get to New York and if he says the arm has to be operated on, then that's that."

The operation probably will be at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore.

Game Is Sell-Out

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4—(AP)—The Notre Dame-University of Southern California football game Dec. 6 is now officially a sell-out.

Trojan athletic officials today announced that no more orders will be accepted and indicated some will have to be returned.

Official seating capacity of Memorial Coliseum here is 101,671.

A similar sold-out notice was announced recently for the Southern Cal-UCLA battle Nov. 22.

Georgia Tech holds two team offensive records for major bowl play, set in different New Year's games. The engineers ran up 25 first downs in the 1944 Sugar Bowl, and gained 319 yards passing in the 1945 Orange Bowl, both against Tulsa.

Lex Cook, new coach of the Dallas Texans in the U. S. Hockey League, coached the Kirkland Lake Blue Devils in 1940 when they won the Allen Cup, emblematic of the senior championship of Canada.

The average farmhouse in the United States is 50 years or more in age.

Barney Poole is the fastest end on the Mississippi squad, despite his size 13-E shoes.

Sadie Hawkins Day In Frostburg Set For Nov. 14

Area Students Are Invited To Attend

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG — The students of Frostburg State Teachers College have set aside Friday, November 14, for their first annual "Sadie Hawkins Day" festivities. The program, scheduled to commence at 5 p. m., will open with the running of the "Sadie Hawkins" race on the athletic field in the rear of the college buildings.

The men will be given a 25-foot start. At the sound of the gun, women students will start after the men, and the captives will accompany their captors to the dance that will follow that evening from 9 until 1 in the college gymnasium.

A special novelty orchestra featuring a Solovox has been obtained for the evening. Comic strip characters such as "Lonesome Polecat," "Hairless Joe," "Li'l Abner," "Daisy mae," "Wolf Gal," and many others will be present.

Costumes suiting the theme of the dance may be worn. Several local merchants will present gifts to those in the most original costumes. For those who wish to come in sport clothes, there will also be presents of various sorts.

High school students of surrounding towns have been invited. Tickets have been on sale in the schools of the county for the past week and a large crowd is expected. Everyone is invited to both the race and the dance.

Calls From Germany

Mrs. Thomas W. Price, West Main Street, received a telephone call Friday afternoon from her daughter, Mrs. Philip Lanasa, who is temporarily residing in Nuernberg, Germany, where her husband, Capt. Lanasa, is stationed with the American occupational forces. She informed her mother that she had just returned from a 10-day trip to Czechoslovakia and described the country as being more like Western Maryland than any of the countries she has seen in the 18 months of her stay in Europe.

Mrs. Lanasa said she expected to come home before long. The couple's two children, Philip, 4, and Mary Susan, who was born in Nuernberg in April, 1947, are both well.

Mrs. Lanasa, the former Miss Sally Price, and her husband are graduates of Western Maryland College. Before her marriage, she taught at Beall High School.

They will be distributed to the members selected to play them at a meeting of the drum and bugle corps to be held this evening. The group will meet at 7:30 at Beall Elementary School for rehearsal and later at the Legion Home, East Main Street, for a business meeting.

Final plans will be made for the bazaar which will begin Saturday evening, November 8, and continue every night next week excepting Friday. Proceds will be used to pay for the bugles.

"Jail On Wheels" Will Be In Keyser For Demonstration Saturday, Sunday

Former Sheriff Says Crime Doesn't Pay

By JUNE B. ROLLEY

KEYSER—The $15,000 "Jail On Wheels," owned by a pioneer in the field of crime prevention, former Sheriff J. Edward Slavin of New Haven, Conn., has embarked on a nationwide tour in conjunction with his one-man crusade against juvenile deliquency and will make its appearance in Keyser, Saturday afternoon and all day Sunday, November 8 and 9, in front of the G. C. Murphy Store, Main Street, Mayor John C. Freeland announced yesterday.

A completely motorized unit, the six-wheel vehicle contains displays of the newest police equipment for tracing, capturing and questioning of felons, and a genuine electric chair, the outstanding feature of which is that it is an exact duplicate of the one used at Connecticut and other states prisons.

The jail is a familiar environment for the 50-year-old Sheriff, recently retired on his birthday anniversary after 12 years in that office where he handled 30,000 commitments, "many of them without a knowledge of why they were criminals," and where he acquired an enviable record and reputation in handling all types of criminals.

Carries Much Equipment

According to advance information received by the city, the vehicle's equipment includes all police weapons: sub-machine guns, rifles, shotguns, revolvers, gas and riot guns, and gas bombs. Exhibited also are legirons, handcuffs, and iron claws; bullet-proof vests; detecting powder, and untraviolet ray equipment; complete teletype and finger-printing apparatus; a large magnet capable of lifting 20-pound objects from under water; a real jail cell; a soundscriber, a new device for recording on small discs confessions and confidential information; and a collection of police badges.

According to Sheriff Slavin, the jail and the exhibits are designed to show that a criminal never wins "because today's police departments have too much scientific know-how," and the slogan "Stop That Crime . . . You Can't Win!" is painted in large letters on the two-tone gray van body.

In commenting on the two-day visit of the "traveling jail," Mayor Freeland said he hopes that every citizen in Keyser and surrounding territory will take the opportunity to view the unusual exhibit and that all parents of school children urge their children to see what a jail is really like on the inside.

Measuring 33 feet, bumper to bumper, the mobile hoosegow has facilities for radio broadcasting and a roof platform with microphone and loudspeaker attachments for lectures to gatherings en route. Visitors have the various exhibits explained and demonstrated.

One of the country's most practical lawmen, Sheriff Slavin has been a lecturer on law enforcement topics throughout the country, is an author, originator of the "First Offender Movement," and of the radio program in conjunction with it, which has been heard regularly for five years on a national network. Interested in youth, and particularly in keeping the young from committing first felonies, he intends to carry on that work through the practical and visual utilization of his jail-on-wheels.

Founded Boys' Village

The objective of Sheriff Slavin's "First Offender Movement" was the prevention of the first crime among youth through adherence to his creed of cooperation with teachers, law officers, church and government. The sheriff also points out that many in law enforcement work, and most of the public, have never seen the inside of a jail. He continues that in his opinion "this is the first practical demonstration to the public, and particularly youngsters, of what a jail looks like and is one of the best and most forceful ways of telling them 'you can't win!' Why appropriate money for more prisons when, if there are no criminals, that money can be diverted to the building of hospitals and playgrounds."

Sheriff Slavin is the founder of Boys Village, a non-profit organization that provides a home in Milford, Conn., for homeless boys or boys from disorganized families, who, he emphasizes, are not criminals in any sense. The mobile jail in no way reflects that Boys Village is a home for criminals, he stresses, and it has no connection with it other than the proceeds from public contributions on the lecture tours, which will be used for the maintenance of the institution. The mobile jail and the exhibits are open to the public without charge, but donations will be accepted.

Mayor Freeland explained that the exhibit will come from Morgantown to Keyser and for its arrival, expected to be around noon Saturday, the city is planning to provide a police escort. The escort will meet the mobile jail at the city limits on New Creek Drive and will accompany it to its destination on Main Street.

Charles Roberts Dies

Charles Thomas Roberts, 76, died at his home near Antioch Sunday evening. Mr. Roberts, a retired farmer, was born in Mineral County, the son of Adeniran Parker Roberts and Susan Mahala (Leatherman) Roberts.

Besides his widow, who was the former Sarah Thrush, he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Lowell Leatherman, Antioch; and one son, George E. Roberts, Antioch. One brother, Henry Robert Roberts, Burlington, and one sister, Mrs. Sylvia Cannon, Burlington, and six grandchildren.

Funeral service will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Antioch Evangelical United Brethren Church with the Rev. W. E. Canoles, pastor, officiating. Interment will be in the Thrush Cemetery.

Correction

In Saturday's News, a man arrested and fined $112.50 in Frostburg Trial Magistrates Court on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor, was incorrectly identified as Walter Thorp.

Magistrate James P. Kenney said yesterday the man arrested was Ralph Thorp, 128 Wood Street, Frostburg. The News regrets the error.

P-TA Hear Benna

Alfred Benna, principal of Barton High School, will be the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the McCoole Parent-Teachers Association, Thursday evening, November 6, at 7 o'clock.

As this week is National Education Week, Benna will use the topic, "Relations of Home and School."

Farm Women To Meet

J. E. Prettyman, Mineral County Agricultural Agent, announces that the Mineral County Farm Women's Annual Achievement Day program will be held at the Burlington Church Thursday, beginning at 10 a. m.

Using the theme, "At the End of the Rainbow," the program will be presided over by Mrs. E. G. Vandiver, Burlington, county president. The morning program will be as follows:

Devotions, Mrs. Charles Kiser; "At the End of the Rainbow," Mrs. Robert C. Gerstell; musical selection, by the Burlington club; business meeting and committee achievements—Homes and Housing—Mrs. Robert G. Gerstell and Miss Gretchen Williams; Health and Nutrition—Mrs. Charles Anderson and Miss Isabell Miller; Music and Recreation, Mrs. J. W. Carskadon, Jr., and Mrs. Harry Coffman; Education, Mrs. E. E. Niece and Mrs. Edith Gibson; awards for the clubs' accomplishments will be given by the Home Demonstration Agent. Also included in the morning session will be the election of next year's officers.

Following luncheon in the Sunday School room, the afternoon program will include another selection by the Burlington club; a talk by Miss Gertrude Humphreys, who is the state leader in home demonstration work on the theme, "There Is Gold in the Land of Mineral."

The day-long affair will be climaxed with each club portraying a "still picture" of a famous painting as follows: "Whistler's Mother," Fort Ashby club; "The Spinner," New Creek club; "Girl With a Cat," Limestone club; "Song of the Lark," Reeses Mill club; "Age of Innocence," Headsville club; "The Gleaners," Burlington club; and "The Angelus," by the Waxler club.

Choir To Rehearse

Rehearsals of the combined church choirs of Keyser for the annual Community Christmas program, which will be held Sunday evening, December 14, at the Keyser High School auditorium, will begin next Sunday at 2:30 p. m., in the Presbyterian Church, Mrs. E. E. Church announces.

The annual citywide Christmas observance, which was begun six years ago, is open to all church choirs in Keyser and to any organization or individual desiring to participate.

Open House Held

Approximately 50 persons attended the "open house" Monday evening at Potomac State School's new music department building on South Mineral Street.

Mrs. E. E. Church, assistant to Leonard G. Withers, who is the director of the school's Music department, said that college authorities were well pleased with the number attending the reception, adding that there would probably have been a larger attendance if the weather had been better.

Music majors served as hosts and hostesses for the open house which was held from 8 to 10 p. m.

Notre Dame Group Marks Centennial In Mount Savage

By MRS. ROSE O'ROURKE

MT. SAVAGE—The School Sisters of Notre Dame at St. Patrick's Convent celebrated the centennial of the founding of their Order at a high mass of thanksgiving yesterday morning at 8 o'clock in St. Patrick's Church.

Rev. Michael Smyth, pastor, was celebrant of the mass and school children sang the Orbis Factor Mass. The "Kyrie" was sung by the first and second grade pupils; the "Sanctus" and "Benedictus" by children of the third and fourth grades, and the "Gloria", "Credo", "Agnes Dei" and "Proper" were sung by pupils of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades.

Following the mass, the Blessed Sacrament was exposed for adoration for the entire morning and at 11:30 o'clock all students of the school assembled for Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The altar was decorated in golden and white mums and tall lighted tapers.

During the afternoon the school children presented a program of playlets and songs composed especially for the Centennial celebration. The first and second grades gave a series of playlets based on the life of the founders and foundresses of the Order. Plays presented by the third and fourth grades were "A Beautiful Angel" and "I Want To Be Rich". A drama, "The Shining Star" was enacted by pupils of the seventh grade and fifth and sixth grade students participated in a play entitled "To The Rescue". The concluding play was "The Gift of Disaster", presented by pupils of the eighth grade.

The Notre Dame Sisters came to Mt. Savage in 1899 and the four nuns who opened the mission were Sister Mary Coeline, Sister M. DeDeo, Sister M. Emeline, and Sister M. Isabel, superior of the convent. The sisters have been teaching in the parochial school here since that time.

Founded in Germany in 1833, the School Sisters of Notre Dame first came to America in 1847 under the direction of Mother Mary Caroline. The first house was established in Baltimore by their foundress, Mother Mary Theresa, and is now the Motherhouse of the Eastern Province. From this small beginning, the Notre Dames in America now number about 6,000. Mother Mary Almeda, the present Superior General of the Order, is arriving in New York today for a visit with the American Sisters.

Brief Items

The Parent-Teacher's Association of the Mt. Savage School will hold its regular meeting in the school auditorium Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Mrs. E. L. Wilson, president, will be in charge.

Barton Paratrooper Participates In Airborne "Exercise Snowdrop"

Leonard E. Warnick In N. Y. Maneuvers

BARTON—A Barton paratrooper, member of the 505th Airborne Battalion Combat Team, has arrived at Pine Camp, N. Y., to participate in the cold weather "Exercise Snowdrop," which will be conducted by his unit, a part of the famed 82nd Airborne Division.

Pfc. Leonard E. Warnick, son of Mrs. G. Warnick, of Barton, has been training at Fort Bragg, N. C., preparing for over-snow exercise. Extensive cold weather experiments, featuring personnel and equipment reaction to unusually cold weather, will outline the training plans for the winter maneuvers.

"Exercise Snowdrop," as the maneuvers have been labeled, will be the second in a series of cold weather operatinons, which are contemplated to be conducted continuously, using each preceding year as a basis for progress the following year.

All types of training will establish precedence for airborne tactics and techniques in the future. The crack paratroopers will learn skiing, snow shoeing, toboggan transportability, and all other necessary operations of military armament and equipment in the deep snow.

The 505th Airborne Battalion Combat Team will climax its maneuvers in February, 1948, with an unprecedented sub-zero weather airhead attack, preceded by a mass battalion parachute drop. The rugged paratroopers will then deploy and operate, independently for 72 hours.

"Exercise Snowdrop" is a progressive step by the Army Ground Forces to improve airborne techniques and stabilize the modern army.

Catholics Plan Food Collection

A Thanksgiving week food collection will be conducted in Western Maryland by Catholic churches to aid the children of Europe and the Far East. The drive will open Sunday, November 23, and continue until November 30.

Sponsored on a nationwide basis by the War Relief Services—National Catholic Welfare Conference, the appeal seeks canned milk, meats, fish, flour, fruits, vegetables, corn meal, barley, dried beans, peas and foods of any kind to achieve the national goal of 25,000,000 pounds.

Donors are requested to take their contributions to any Catholic church at any time from November 23 to 30.

Rev. Charles W. Bogan of St. Patrick's Church is making arrangements for handling and shipping the foodstuffs to national warehouses. After special processing and packing, the food will be shipped directly to emergency zones in Europe and Asia.

Air Forces Veterans To Meet Thursday

The local squadron of the National Air Forces Association, in the process of organization, will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Army Recruiting office, Union Street, to elect officers, Lt. George J. Goecke, public relations officer, said last night.

At a meeting of veteran airmen two weeks ago, 29 were present and it was indicated that there are at least 75 former Air Forces members in this area interested in forming a Squadron of the NAFA.

After officers are elected, and as many members and former members of the Army Air Forces interested are registered, application will be made for a charter.

Arson Suspect Still Held In Keyser, W. Va.

Mineral County, W. Va., authorities said last night that Edward Trelach, Dawson, Md., suspected of arson in connection with at least one of three major forest fires in that county, was still being held in Mineral County Jail, Keyser, but no charges have been preferred against him.

Trelach was arrested after three major fires swept over acres of forest land in the West Virginia County, and authorities said they suspected Trelach of starting at least one of the blazes.

Investigation officers gave no indication what disposition will be made of the case or when it will be disposed of.

Police Continue Probe Of Stolen Taxi Cab

Police last night were still seeking two men who allegedly held up a local taxi cab driver and took his car Monday night at 9:30 o'clock on Valley Road near Bowman's Addition, but reported no new developments in the case.

Officers investigating the alleged theft of the car, after the driver, Chester R. O'Neal, was struck on the head with a beer bottle, said they have found no trace of the machine or of the two men who hired the driver and asked to be driven to Valley Road.

Maryland State Police, as well as City Police, and State Police of Pennsylvania and West Virginia were continuing their search last night for the cab, a dark blue four-door Plymouth bearing Maryland license tags H-14-444.

Rent Control Office Open Tuesday, Friday

Officer Stitcher Is Recovering From Burns

Officer Joseph H. Stitcher, 24, who was critically burned by flaming gasoline July 10 while attempting to assist the driver of a truck stalled on Virginia Avenue, continues to improve at his home, 465 Warren Street.

He will be under his physician's care for some time, however, for treatment of several of the most severely burned areas, and will probably have to undergo surgical treatment of some of the scar tissue which formed.

Disabled Veterans Will Hear Report

John E. Hoffman, executive committeman, will make a report on the Department of Maryland meeting in Baltimore on Oct. 17, at the meeting of Fort Washington Chapter No. 2, Disabled American Veterans, tonight at 8 o'clock at the home, 113 South Centre Street.

Two Wills Filed For Probate Here

The wills of Clarence F. Fraley, this city, who died October 27, and of George R. Dolan, this city, who died October 24, were admitted to probate in Orphans Court yesterday.

Fraley provided that his home property at 1016 Virginia Avenue be given his daughter, Grace Olline Lewis, with the balance of his estate equally divided between her and another daughter, Margaret Elizabeth Stinger, Pittsburgh, Pa. The document was dated May 7, 1947, and witnessed by Angelia Senkbeil, Marcus A. Naughton and F. Brooke Whiting. Mrs. Lewis was named executrix.

Dolan's will leaves his carpenters tools to his son Henry C. Dolan, and other properties divided equally between his seven children. Mrs. Harriet Pague and Mrs. Josephine Hardman was named executors. The will was witnessed by Phyllis Feaga, and Lewis M. Wilson.

College Red Cross Unit Is Suggested

Students of Frostburg State Teachers' College Monday heard an explanation of the work of college units of the American Red Cross, but no action has been taken on establishing a unit at Frostburg, according to Mrs. Harry Beneman, chairman of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross.

Mrs. Beneman accompanied Miss Hazel Tarbutton, field representative from the eastern area office of the Red Cross in Alexandria, Va., when the latter went to the college yesterday at the invitation of Miss Lillian C. Compton, president, to speak at a general student assembly.

Miss Tarbutton explained that a program of community service could be set up with the same activities as the regular chapter, such as motor corps, canteen, first aid, water safety, home nursing and other services.

The group would be a part of the Frostburg Red Cross branch and would provide trained volunteer workers in any of those activities in case of need.

Following the assembly, a group of six or seven women students who expressed interest in the college unit suggestion appointed Miss Ann Shireman, Cumberland, a sophomore, to conduct a survey among the students and to report back to the committee.

If sufficient interest is shown, a unit will be organized, Miss Compton said.

Chamber Legislative Group Meets Thursday

The Legislative Committee of the Chamber of Commerce will meet Thursday at 11:30 a. m. to discuss legislation before the special session of the General Assembly and make plans for a Public Affairs conference in Martinsburg, W. Va., November 12.

Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the conference will be held in the Shenandoah Hotel at 6:30 p. m. and a local delegation will attend. Representatives from Frederick, Hagerstown and Winchester, Va., as well as Martinsburg also are expected to be present.

The local meeting Thursday will be held in the office of the Chamber of Commerce, Liberty Trust Building.

Greek Farms Get Millions In U. S. Aid

AP Newsfeatures

ATHENS—More than $20,000,000 will be spent by the American aid mission in an effort to restore normal agricultural production in Greece, says Elmer N. Holmgreen, of Bryan, Texas, chief of the AMAG agricultural division.

An allocation of $14,400,000 has been made for equipment. The remainder will be used for consumers' goods under post-UNRRA relief.

The equipment appropriation includes $5,500,000 for irrigation equipment to be used on individual farms, and $4,500,000 for small processing plants.

A total of $3,000,000 will be used for purchase of farm machinery and spare parts, $500,000, storage and refrigeration equipment, $500,000 fishing supplies, $300,000 laboratory equipment, technical facilities and commodities for re-equipping agricultural schools, and $100,000 veterinary needs.

Holmgreen says orders have been placed with the United States and other countries for $3,000,000 worth of fertilizers, $2,500,000 in pesticides and 3,000 tons of wheat seed.

U. S. Signs Contracts To Rebuild Greece

ATHENS—(AP)—The American Mission for Aid to Greece has signed three reconstruction contracts with the Greek government providing for the rebuilding of railroads, highways and ports, Dwight G. Griswold, AMAG chief, has announced.

The contracts give the Mission authority to use facilities already in Greece. They provide for the payment of the drachma expenses of the work from a special fund created by the sale of consumers goods supplied by the United States. The Mission and the Greek government must approve each project before work begins.

Special Program To Honor Hersholt-Air Anniversary

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Jean Hersholt, movie actor turned radio portrayer of Dr. Christian, is celebrating the tenth anniversary of this characterization on Wednesday night. So, instead of a regular Dr. Christian drama on CBS at 8:30 o'clock, a special program will come on.

It will comprise a broadcasted tribute by radio and screen personalities stationed at Hollywood, as well as others. Incidentally, this program grew out of Hersholt's portrayal of a doctor on the screen.

The MBS network, which at the last minute last week substituted what its first called Encore Theater for the announced quiz, RFD America, is continuing that dramatic program at 9:30. But instead of Encore Theater, the title is now Request Performance, another name, Repeat Performance, used by CBS, also was cast aside. The idea of the series is to revive radio scripts of the past. Scheduled for this time is "Journey Into Time."

An MBS special for 10 will be a YWCA drama, Out of This World," with Kenny Delmar, radio's Sen. Claghorn, in one of the roles.

Among the guests of the night, there will be Rudy Valee and Georgie Jessel in Duffy's Tavern of NBC at 9, Ozzie and Harriet with Bing Crosby's recorded show on ABC at 10 and Bing Crosby in the Jimmy Durante live program on NBC at 10:30.

Henry Wallace, due back from a trip to Palestine, is scheduled for an Ed Murrow interview on CBS at 7:45.

Paging The Doctor

A Doctors' call service is the new business venture of a Sydney (New South Wales) woman, Mrs. Margaret Mecham. The service comprises the taking of messages, locating doctors and the providing of substitutes when the required medical help is not available. Mrs. Mecham has telephone plugs throughout her house and carries her card index of doctors' names from room to room as she performs her house duties. When a doctor's consulting office or home telephone is unattended, Mrs. Mecham is informed where he or she may be located. Her telephone number may be found beneath the doctor's in the telephone directory.

Radio In Review

By JOHN CROSBY

Disapproves of Crime

In one of those horrid little dramas on "Mr. District Attorney" the other night, a football coach suddenly discovered—or thought he discovered—the infidelity of his wife. He got quite angry about it. "I feed you! I clothe you! And you do this to me," sobbed the coach. Then the full enormity of the sin struck him and he added brokenly: "And during football season, too!"

John Crosby

The curious sense of values implicit in that bit of dialogue is characteristic of the whole philosophy behind "Mr. District Attorney," whose enormous and long-standing success is one of the mysteries of broadcasting. Shortly after I started this column, I heard one of the "District Attorney" programs (N.B.C., 9:30 p. m. E.S.T. Wednesdays) which struck me at the time as possibly the most reprehensible piece of trash ever dramatized. "The only other thing in my notes," I wrote at that time, "is a string of adjectives including trite, cheap, degrading, over-acted, lachrymose, hypocritical, and what looks like implausible, but may be incredible."

That seemed sufficient to wrap up Mr. D. A. for all time. However, since a great many of my early opinions have been somewhat modified by time or because the shows have changed or because I have, I've been looking into "Mr. District Attorney" again. In this case, neither of us has changed a bit.

"Mr. District Attorney" is no bloodier than many other crime shows on the air but in several respects it is vastly more irritating. In the first place, its crimes are indescribably sordid; in the second and more importantly, they are presented with consummate hypocrisy as a sort of public service. At any rate, there are a lot of virtuous noises at the opening of the show indicating that the purpose here is the exposure of rackets. The rackets come out of the newspapers and in that respect the show touches the fringe of reality, but the details are almost incredibly preposterous. The one about the coach was a dilly.

A couple of gamblers were trying to fix a football game. To accomplish this, they bribed an assistant coach and then went to work to drive the head man nuts by means of a series of phony telephone calls concerning the extra-marital activities of his wife. This so distracted the athletic Othello that he lost all zest for his work and was even persuaded to rush home in the middle of the big game. Deprived of his magic presence, the team immediately lost a situation which might amuse a good many gamblers though I doubt whether they'd bet on it. The fixing of football games is a lot more complicated than that, Mr. D.A.

Incidentally, the coach's wife, who was as innocent as Desdemona, wound up in the same position murdered, though in this case there was no particular reason for doing her in except to liven things up with a little bloodshed. She screamed quite a bit before she expired.

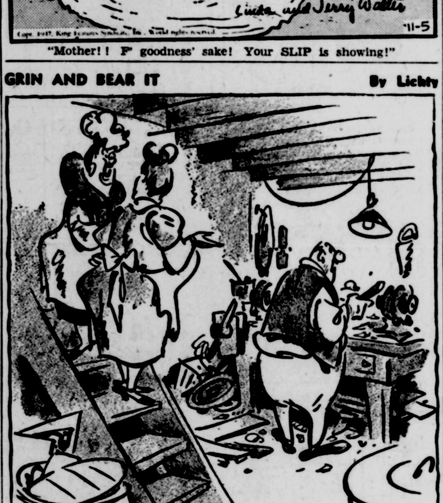

It may seem a little unfair to get so exercised over one program when there are so many others which have no great qualms about bloodshed. Mr. D.A., I think, deserves special treatment: a) because the show has been around so long with no perceptible signs of improvement b) because it has the highest Hooper rating of any crime show (17.5); c) because it lacks wit, taste and imagination. There are a great many slayings on the air (there are now forty-two crime shows on the four networks), but, in defense of some of them, they have acquired the knack of rubbing out the victims with an air of innocence and unreality, like the wolf eating Little Red Riding Hoods grandmother. They are not expected to be taken seriously.

Mr. D.A., on the other hand, is introduced with high moral tone as the "champion of the people, defender of truth, guardian of our fundamental rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," all of which I find somehow vexing. He even gives a little speech deploring crime. He disapproves, in case you're interested, of bank robbery, arson and matricide.

I seem to have another string of adjectives in my notes, this time concerning Mr. D.A.'s voice. A few of them are: pompous, complacent, sonorous, humorless, dogmatic, unconvincing and—I don't know how this one got in here—superfluous. Mr. D.A., to put it more succinctly, sounds like a bad Shakespearean actor in an empty auditorium.

"Atomic energy may lead to that, he added, pointing out that in hi opinion one of the most importan steps in that direction was taken b President Truman when he decide to make available radioisotopes, de rived from atomic energy reactor for limited distribution to qualifie research workers engaged in medi cal and biological research.

Dr. Millan is the founder, an presently the director, of the can cer clinic of the General Hospita in Mexico City.

Cancer kills 180,000 persons an nually in the United States, Presi dent Truman told the congress i a message read to the delegates.

Midland Fund Drive Planned In September

Rev. J. J. Reiley, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Midland, said yesterday that the fund drive for the playground and other improvements to the church was organized early in September.

When the drive was planned, he said, there was no knowledge or intention of any infraction of the law nor is there any desire today to violate the law.

The parish, he explained, was only following a custom of many years by which churches and fraternal organizations have raised funds for various purposes. Father Reiley added that he was misquoted in the Cumberland News Monday in an article concerning the fund raising campaign.

The famed Bodleian library of Oxford was founded in 1598 and endowed in 1611 by Sir Thomas Bodley. From its original 2,000 volumes it has grown to more than 1,250,000.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(INS)—Barbara Stanwyck isn't the only one in her family to star in a story by J. P. Marquand.

Mrs. Frank Sinatra

Just before taking the train for New York, I heard that Robert Taylor had been given the lead in "So Little Time." That's the J. P. Marquand book based on that phrase, "It's later than you think," which most of us as we grow older would just as soon not hear.

Gina Kraus has been signed to write the script and, from last reports, Angela Lansbury was set to team with Bob.

Barbara has already finished Marquand's "B. F.'s Daughter."

Irene Selznick seems to have something in "A Streetcar Named Desire." Clarence Brown says her play, which is by Tennessee Williams, whose "Glass Menagerie" made history, will be one of the season's hits.

Irene deserves a break because she had the courage to abandon her first show when she saw that it wasn't going to be as good as she had hoped.

It made her very happy that her father, Louis B. Mayer, was at the tryout, which he attended just before he came back to the coast. It opens on Broadway in December.

Chatter in Hollywood: Just before leaving town, I heard that Richard Dix is at Palm Springs, feeling not too well, and is planning to take about six months off from picture making.

Dick will loll in the sun at the Desert Inn until it closes in May of next year.

Well, he is one actor who won't have to worry about his career. His stardom has lasted over from the silent days right up to now where he is headlining thrillers and mystery pictures for Columbia.

In spite of the worst cholera epidemic in 15 years and alleged troop movements in Cairo, the pretty wife of novelist George Tabori has gone there to do research for him.

Tabori, author of "Companions Of The Left-Hand," is writing a novel called "Basra" and although he spent three years in Asia, he wants Mrs. Tabori to check on the recent happenings for this new book.

At present, armed with eight different inoculations and a dagger, she is on her way from Beirut to Damascus. She left word she will look into everything from the effects of Hasheesh to the political feelings of the camel driver.

Basra, called the Venice of the Orient, has the world's highest temperatures.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Annabella's hotel apartment in Paris was robbed and her clothes were stolen. But, fortunately, she was wearing most of her jewelry and the rest was in the hotel vault.

Mrs. Robert Mitchum underwent a major operation today. She and Bob had planned a trip to Mexico City and New York, which, of course, is now cancelled.

Burt Lancaster's business manager, Harold Hecht, was married to Gloria Buzzell in Las Vegas today. Gloria is a niece of Eddie Buzzell.

Mrs. Alexander Knox is momentarily expecting the arrival of her baby.

Greer Garson has been stepping out with Bob Taplinger three nights in a row having a wonderful time.

Nancy Sinatra was on the long distance phone talking to Frank in New York when she heard a commentator airing that they had had a big quarrel. She couldn't have been more annoyed.

If Maureen O'Sullivan wants to leave her family and go to London after the birth of her baby, she has a good offer. Allied Pictures of London wants her to star in "The Crime Of Margaret Foley," a current stage hit, when it is filmed.

Wynn Rocamora, who almost had blood poisoning from an infected finger, has flown to New York where I expect to see him tomorrow morning.

The first industrialist I've ever heard of consenting to play himself on the screen is A. Howard Fuller, president of the Fuller Brush Company.

Fuller came all the way out from the plant in Hartford for a scene raking Red Skelton over the coals in "The Fuller Brush Man."

Frances Langford did her Girl Scout deed when she agreed to fly to San Francisco for the press photographer's ball, filling in for Peggy Lee who is ill. Jon Hall piloted her up in their plane.

Annelle Stevens, Mark's wife, may go into pictures. She's considering a career of her own.

Rudolph Friml Jr., son of the composer, has dropped his $30,000 damage suit against the city of Los Angeles, which he filed when he claimed false arrest for a traffic violation.

That's all today.

Swedish Film Censors Cut 100,000 Feet

STOCKHOLM—(AP)—About 100,000 feet of film, deemed pernicious to Swedish morals during the last film budget year, were cut by the censors.

Every film must be approved before it is shown in Swedish theaters. The censors also decide whether the films may be shown to children under 15.

The censors are especially strict regarding pictures showing bloodshed, crime and cruelties.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of expressing our sincere thanks to our relatives, friends and neighbors who were so kind to us in our recent bereavement in the death of our beloved husband and father, Albert Boyer, Frostburg. We also wish to express our appreciation for the floral tributes and to those who loaned cars for the funeral.

IN MEMORIAM

Sad remembrance of our dear boy, Bernard Lipson, who died 14 years ago today, November 5, 1933.

As the months and years roll by,
We miss him more each day.
This day brings back sad memories
Of a loved one gone to rest.

No one knows our aching heart,
For the one who passed away,
Memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own.

HIS PARENTS.

In loving memory of our husband and father, George Henry Schultz, who left this life one year ago today, November 5, 1946.

The blow was hard, the shock severe,
We never thought the end so near;
Only those who have lost can tell,
The pain of passing without farewell.
Our love cannot tell how much we miss him,
Our hearts cannot tell what to say;
God alone knows how we miss him,
In our lonesome hearts today.
He little thought when leaving home,
That he would never return,
That he so soon in death would sleep,
And leave us here to mourn.
God knows how much we miss him,
Never shall his memory fade,
Loving thoughts shall ever wander,
To the spot where he is laid.

Sadly missed by his wife, sons and daughters.

County Legislators Lining Up For Flood Bond Bills

Passage Predicted For Both Measures

Allegany County's State Senator and the Delegation were lining up last night on the eve of the special session of the Legislature in support of two bond issue bills authorizing the County Commissioners and the City of Cumberland to sell $1,700,000 in bonds to partly finance Cumberland's flood control project.

The County Commissioners Monday morning unanimously resolved to ask the Legislature to authorize a county bond issue of $1,000,000, and the Mayor and Council Monday afternoon passed a unanimous resolution asking the Legislature for authorization to sell $700,000 worth of bonds.

These bonds, with an $800,000 city bond issue already authorized, will provide the city's and county's share of the approximately $12,000,000 project.

Authorization of the bond issues by the Legislature and the necessary federal appropriation are required now before the project can get underway.

County Commissioners Charles N. Wilkinson, board president, and William H. Lemmert, drove to Baltimore with the proposed county bill yesterday and arrived just under the deadline and turned it over to Dr. Horace E. Flack, secretary of the Legislative Council, who forwarded the measure to the state printer. In the meantime, the city bill arrived by special delivery mail and also was sent to the printer.

Kimble Issues Statement

Only the Delegation chairman, Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., and Delegate John T. Fey could not be contacted last night for comment on their positions in regard to the bond issue bills. Fey, however, said on Monday that he did not believe the bills would encounter any opposition. The other delegates had this to say:

Sen. Kimble — "Naturally, since I'm introducing them, I'm going to put them through the Senate. Personally, I don't like passing bills for that amount of money without a referendum. It is unfortunate that the matter was let go until the last minute, but there is too much at stake to hold them up for referendum which might mean losing 30 per cent of the cost of the project which the federal government will pay. I am in the position of holding up both bills and thus holding up the project or going against my personal feelings and passing them without a referendum. Since the Mayor and Council and the County Commissioners unanimously have asked for them, the fact that we may lose the program if they are held up and the fact that the government won't be held up any longer, I simply must be for the bills."

Passage Is Predicted

Delegate William H. Geppert — "I am 100 per cent in favor of the bond issues. In my opinion they will pass both Houses. It's a bonanza the county, city and entire community cannot afford to throw away. The bills will make available for the entire community about nine and a half million dollars in federal funds that probably would be put to use elsewhere in other states if we didn't take advantage of it. In view of the fact the bills have unanimous support of all factions in Allegany County, I'm 100 per cent in back of them."

Delegate Noel Speir Cook — "I'm for both bond issues without a referendum. If we tie it up in a referendum, we may lose the whole thing. The government will bear 80 per cent of the cost. The time factor makes a referendum out of the question. It is my opinion the bills will pass both Houses."

Delegate Lester B. Reed — "I'm inclined, of course, to be favorable to both of them. However, I want to read them in full detail before I make a final commitment. Unless something very unexpected appears in the final drafting I feel that I will be for them."

Delegate Charles M. See — "I will have those bills read to me in their entirety. I havemade no commitment either way because I have not yet had the opportunity to become familiar with the provision of the proposed legislation. However, I will use my judgment for what I think is best for my constituents, also taking into consideration taxes and so forth. I will not make snap judgment on this matter."

TEMPERATURE READING

With one-quarter of an inch of rainfall recorded here yesterday, the forecast for today is partly cloudy this morning, becoming cloudy with showers in the late afternoon and early night. Fair and continued mild weather is predicted for tomorrow.

The maximum temperature yesterday was 56 and at 9:30 last night the reading was 52 degrees. Yesterday's overnight low was 48.

Undertakers Will Meet

Chest Has 48 Hours To Reach Campaign Goal

Leaders Appeal For Increased Giving

Citizens of Cumberland rallied this week to the urgent need for immediate action to get federal aid on its much discussed flood control project. The united action, the wholehearted interest and energy, was the kind of thing that makes any individual proud of his home town, because it is the kind of cooperation that gets good things done.

But with this flood control project taking up the time and energy of so many people, right in the middle of Cumberland's annual Community Chest campaign, the Chest drive was just shoved aside. With only 48 hours left to finish the drive leaders last night discovered the job is less than half done.

A council of war of civic leaders interested in the welfare of the community and the continued operation of nine member Chest agencies, agreed that "we will lay the cards on the table, and state the facts."

The Chest goal this year is $75,393.51. This is less than the $81,248.46, which agencies requested, but is the final figure after the Chest's budget committee pared down estimates to the very minimum.

Agencies agreed to take reductions in their budget requests and did so because they believed Cumberland and its residents would raise the amounts needed.

But with the campaign to close Thursday night, only 47 per cent of the total, or $31,908 has been contributaed. This means the job is less than half finished.

Need Every Dollar

Every dollar of the $75,393.51 goal must be raised to keep all the agencies operating for the full fiscal year. If the goal is not reached, the time will come in the next 12 months, when the Baby Welfare Society wil have to say to some hungry child, "sorry, we have no funds to buy milk. The people in Cumberland failed to contribute enough."

The Associated Chaarities, one of the largest and most active agencies in the Chest group, will face the time when a hungry family, a sick mother, an orphan, or someone else in need will be turned away, because "the people of Cumberland failed to give enough to reach the Community Chest goal."

Or the Travelers Aid, which cares for the homeless and stranded, for the strangers within our gates, will have to tell them, "go out on the streets and beg. We have no money. Enough people failed to contribute in the campaign."

Every one of the nine agencies will be forced to turn needy and handicapped and less fortunate human beings away, because the Community Chest failed to reach its goal.

Investment In Future

But charitable institutions as such, aren't the only kind of agen-

Navy Grant Of $20,000 Approved For Armory Road

A grant of $20,000 has been authorized by the Bureau of Naval Parsonnel for necessary road construction at the naval armory being built on McKaig's Hill, according to Lt. Comdr. Walter N. Hedrick, organizing officer for the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division.

Lt. Hedrick was informed of the grant in a letter from Comdr. W. D. Horton, Civil Engineer Corps, USNR who visited Cumberland some months ago in connection with the armory project.

The Navy has leased two city-owned lots facing Monroe Street for use in building the entrance road, which will be two lanes in width and paved with blacktop. The road will skirt the northeast side of the building and end at a macadam parking lot, which will measure 60 by 100 feet.

Work on the road is not expected to start until Spring. The contract will be let by the Navy.

Approval has also been granted for a drill ground and athletic field, Comdr. Hedrick said.

He added that arrangements have been made with local Marine Reserve officials to allow members of the naval reserve division to use the large drill hall to be built by the Marine Corps as an addition to the armory.

In return, use of the Navy's outdoor drill ground and athletic field will be available for Marine reservists, Comdr. Hedrick said.

Crippled Children League May Get Aid From County

Kimble To Offer Emergency Bill

A local bill, to make it possible for the commissioners of Allegany County to appropriate $1,000 annually to the Allegany County League For Crippled Children, is to be introduced at the special session of the Maryland General Assembly, according to State Senator Robert B. Kimble.

Kimble said that several weeks ago, the League asked the County Board for financial help, and Lewis M. Wilson, the board's attorney, informed them that under the law the commissioners are prohibited from giving public funds to charitable organizations.

Commissioners Charles N. Wilkinson, board president and William H. Lemmert, who went to Baltimore yesterday to deliver the county's flood control bond issue measure, met with Senator Kimble and discussed the situation. They urged Senator Kimble to submit the bill and make the appropriation possible.

The Commissioners and Senator Kimble agreed that the League for Crippled Children has done considerable work for handicapped youngsters in Allegany County, and that the work done by the organization in connection with polio cases here this summer, is worthy of recognition. Wilkinson and Lemmert declared that if the bill as proposed by Kimble can be made law, the county board will appropriate $1,000 to the League immediately.

Wilkinson, Lemmert and Senator Kimble have an appointment for breakfast today with Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., secretary-treasurer of the State Board of Education to discuss state aid for new public school buildings, and the "incentive act", which was referred to at a public meeting Monday night in Mt. Savage. The local commissioners said they were not familiar with the act and will get first hand information from Dr. Pullen.

Buracker Convicted Of Voluntary Manslaughter

Sentenced To Serve One To Five Years

By JUNE B. ROLLEY

KEYSER, W. Va.—A Mineral County jury yesterday convicted Edward Thomas Buracker of voluntary manslaughter in the shotgun death of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Hazel Smith Bosley, during a family scuffle, and he was sentenced to one to five years imprisonment in the West Virginia State Penitentiary by Judge Ernest A. See.

The case went to the jury at 2:10 p. m., and the verdict was returned at 5 p. m., after the jury had returned twice to ask Judge See to re-read his instructions on voluntary and involuntary manslaughter.

Buracker, a 23-year-old Army veteran, and his pretty young wife, Julia, showed no emotion as the verdict was read by Clerk of Court Paul W. Dayton.

Spectators Are Calm

There was no demonstration among the spectators jamming the courtroom and filling nearby corridors.

When court reconvened at 1:30 after a duncheon recess, Defense Attorney H. R. Athey asked for "serious consideration" of the verdict in view of Buracker's testimony that he was highly nervous as a result of war service in the European theater, and that he had been twice hospitalized while overseas.

Athey stressed Buracker's testimony that he did not remember anything after the fatal shooting August 23 until State Police picked him up on Route 50 several hours later.

Mrs. Bosley, 61, died in Potomac Valley Hospital the day after the shooting, which occurred during a family argument at her home in Grayson's Gap, near Antioch.

"Discrepancies" Charged

During the morning session, the state closely questioned the defendant's 19-year-old wife and sought to point out discrepancies in her testimony that her mother was shot accidentally during a scuffle for the shotgun.

Mrs. Buracker said on the stand her brothers had threatened her if she testified in her husband's defense, but they denied it when they testified.

"Since there was a scuffle for the gun, no one knows who pulled the trigger," declared Defense Attorney Harry K. Drane in asking acquittal.

Prosecuting Attorney Vernon E. Rankin asked a verdict of murder in the first degree.

Buracker was returned to Mineral County Jail to await removal to the state penitentiary at Moundsville.

Bills Of Complaint

Two bills of complaint were entered on the equity docket at the Court House yesterday as follows: Junior B. Smith, vs. Mary M. Smith; and Anna May Keister vs. Dewey E. Keister.

Kimble Sees Chance To Repeal Sales Tax

State Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany), minority floor leader in the Senate, said last night on the eve of the special session of the Legislature that foes of the sales tax have a "fighting chance of getting 15 votes" in the Senate necessary for repeal.

If the House should concur in repeal, Kimble said, the Governor's veto is "over our heads."

He added that the additional three votes needed in the Senate to override the veto may not be altogether impossible to get because some of the proponents of the sales tax are "shaky," having been criticized considerably by their constituents for voting for the bill at the general session.

Committees Are Named At Meeting Of Methodists

Election of associate lay leaders and committee members, anfnual reports and an address by Dr. Frederick W. Smith, Baltimore, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Maryland, featured an all-day session of the Hagerstown District Conference yesterday.

The conference, held at Trinity Methodist Church, was attended by approximately 200 pastors and lay delegates from Methodist churches in Allegany, Washington and Frederick Counties.

Rev. Wiliam F. Wright, Hagerstown, superintendent of the district, presided. He recalled that the occasion marked the 40th anniversary of the day he was first licensed to preach.

It was decided to hold the November, 1948 conference in Hancock.

Dr. Smith, whose address closed the afternoon program, declared that techniques of dealing with the liquor problem must be changed.

Suggestions Made

"The church needs to remember that all drinking is created by emotional instability or insecurity, and that we must teach people how to deal with their emotional problems so that they will not turn to a destructive thing like liquor as a way of escape," he said.

Dr. Smith declared that habitual alcoholics should not be punished by jail sentences but should be sent to rehabilitation centers where they may be helped to become effective citizens again.

FBI Official Will Speak At Meeting

O'Hara, commanding officer of the LaVale barracks of the State Police, and Sheriff Edward R. Muir, according to Harold W. Smith, secretary of the Chamber.

Council Changes Mind On Kimble's Liquor Resolution

Unanimous Approval Is Given Measure

The State Legislative Council which last week rejected a resolution offered by Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany) for introduction at the special session of the legislature beginning today appointing the Allegany County Liquor Control Board as a committee to study the advisability of a county liquor dispensary and to study the new county liquor law has changed its mind and unanimously approved the measure, according to Sen. Kimble.

Kimble's resolution directs that the liquor board, named at the last regular session of the Legislature, be directed to make its study and report before October 1, 1948.

A resolution adopted at the regular session directed creation of a special committee to make the survey, with a provision that no members could be connected, directly or indirectly, with liquor operations.

The liquor board, subsequently named to make the study, held that it was ineligible because of this resolution, but Kimble's new resolution is expected to clear the way for the liquor board to undertake the survey.

Kimble has predicted that the special session of the Legislature will be a "hot" one and pointed out that the Governor's program when put on the Legislative agenda did not carry approval of the Council as a body.

The administration bill to raise the sales tax exemption from nine cents to 14 cents does not "represent any relief" in Kimble's opinion. "I do not agree with it," Kimble said.

State Legislature Gets Resolution On Savage Dam

To Memorialize Congress For Funds

A joint resolution, to be presented to the House of Delegates and State Senate, has been prepared and forwarded to State Senator Robert B. Kimble, urging Congress to appropriate funds for the completion of the Savage River Dam.

The resolution is the result of work done and information gathered by committees working on the program to have the Savage River Dam completed. Senator Kimble met here a couple of weeks ago with committees representing the Junior Association of Commerce, Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars and other veteran groups.

Thomas B. Finan is chairman of the Jaycee-Veterans committee for completion of the dam, and James M. Beacham is chairman of the VFW committee.

The proposed resolution follows:

WHEREAS, it is desirable and necessary that the waters of the North Branch of the Potomac River be controlled in an effort to prevent the repetition of disastrous floods which have resulted in the loss of lives and millions of dollars in property damage to the residents of Garrett and Allegany Counties in Maryland and Mineral County in West Virginia; and

WHEREAS, during the year 1939 the Works Progress Administration started the construction of a dam on the Savage River in Garrett County, Maryland, in an effort to control the waters flowing into the North Branch of the Potomac River; and

WHEREAS, approximately Four Million Dollars ($4,000,000.00) has heretofore been expended on such construction work so that said dam is now approximately two-thirds complete; and

WHEREAS, during the year 1942 the War Production Board ordered the suspension of all work on said dam in order to conserve men and materials for essential projects bearing a direct relationship to the war effort; and

WHEREAS, the said Savage River Dam is now in a state of progressive deterioration and of no benefit whatsoever and unless the same is completed within the near future,

Both parents are in good condition in the same hospital.

Include Flood Control Bond Issue Bills

Nine measures pertaining to Cumberland and Allegany County are among the 69 or 70 bills to be introduced at the special session of the Legislature which convenes this afternoon, State Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany) said last night.

Allegany County and Prince Georges County probably have the largest amount of legislation to be acted upon of the 23 counties in the state, Kimble said.

He added that it remains questionable if the special session will adjourn this week, but pointed out that night sessions are likely in an effort to conclude before the end of the week.

Of major importance are two bond issue bills for a total of $1,700,000 to finance Cumberland's flood control project.

The County Commissioners Monday morning approved unanimously a resolution asking the General Assembly to authorize the county to sell bonds for $1,000,000 to help finance the flood control project.

Monday afternoon, the Mayor and City Council likewise unanimously passed a resolution asking the Legislature to authorize the city to issue $700,000 in bonds to help finance the project. Authorization of an $800,000 bond issue for flood control work previously had been granted.

Sen. Kimble has won approval of the Legislative Council for a bill he intends to introduce which would provide salary increases of from $1,200 to $2,400 for Cumberland city commissioners and from $1,500 to $3,600 for the mayor without a referendum.

A bill passed at the regular session provided for a referendum on these increases to be held at the same time as the next city election in April, and Delegate Charles M. See (R-Allegany) declared last night that he still is in favor of a referendum on the matter.

See, however, said he is "definitely" in favor of a bill to regulate strip mining in Allegany County which is to be introduced and which likewise has been granted unanimous approval by the Legislative Council.

See reminded that he was for the strip mining bill at the regular session and added that while it "will help some" a "great part of the damage already has been done."

Another measure to be introduced is one creating a sanitary district at LaVale in an effort to combat a water supply problem.

This bill also will have See's support, he said, pointing out that he had his secretary read to him "every word" of the 20-page measure.

Two resolutions also are to be acted upon.

One would petition Congress to appropriate sufficient money to complete the Savage River dam in Garrett County.

The second would appoint the Allegany County Liquor Control Board as a committee to study the advisability of a county liquor dispensary and to study the new county liquor law in its entirety.

An enabling act to authorize the County Commissioners to contribute an amount not to exceed $1,000 annually to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children also is to be introduced.

Another bill to be introduced would give the Mayor and Council the right to exempt from taxation undeveloped land of not less than five acres and used exclusively for agricultural purposes. A law to that effect was repealed at the regular session.

Kelly Local Will Seek NLRB Status

The executive board of Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, voted last night to take steps necessary for the local's qualification by the National Labor Relations Board.

A. E. Johnson, president, who announced the action, said the local will apply to the URCLPWA for the necessary forms required by the Taft-Hartley labor law and will comply as soon as the forms are received.

Local 26 is the first CIO union here to report its intentions of complying with the provisions of the law which calls for union officials, among other things, to sign affidavits that they are not members of the Communist party.

The regular meeting of the Kelly local will be held tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the union hall.

Johnson said the local's entertainment committee, headed by B. O. Shaffer, met last night and laid plans for the organization of a Local 26 Bowling League.

Members who are interested are asked to attend a meeting to be held Sunday at 7 p. m. at the Savoy bowling alleys when teams will be selected and a schedule worked out.

American Progress Speeded Up By Research Work, Rotarians Are Told

America has made 50 years of progress in 10 years by taking its inventors out of sheds and attics and putting them in modern research laboratories backed by ample funds, Dr. Walter A. Dew, eastern manager of the du Pont Company's Extension Division, said in an address before the Cumberland Rotary Club at noon yesterday in Central YMCA.

"The whole story of our economic system, which has produced by far the highest standard of living the world has ever known, is bound up in this process of logically gathering ideas and transforming them into products that benefit consumers," he said.

The process, he stated, is both complicated and difficult, and many people and groups of people have a hand in it.

"All of them," he said, "are members of a team—research workers in many different fields, engineers, designers, tool-makers, administrators, investors, and workers. If any one of these groups falls down, the others might as well not have succeeded, for the ultimate consumer doesn't get the product."

Dr. Dew described the process through examples, showing how rayon, nylon and the plastics field had expanded into industries making jobs that had never existed before for thousands of people, while at the same time raising significantly the standard of living of the average American.
